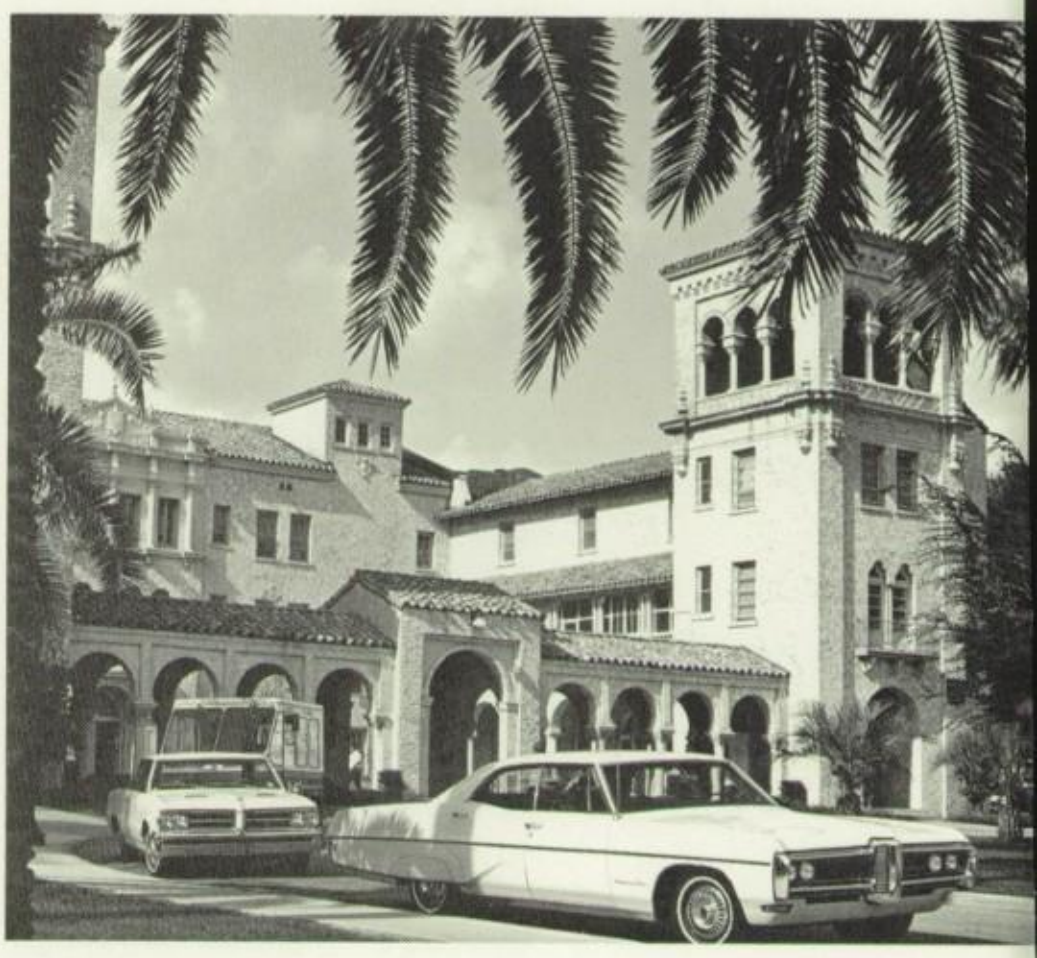
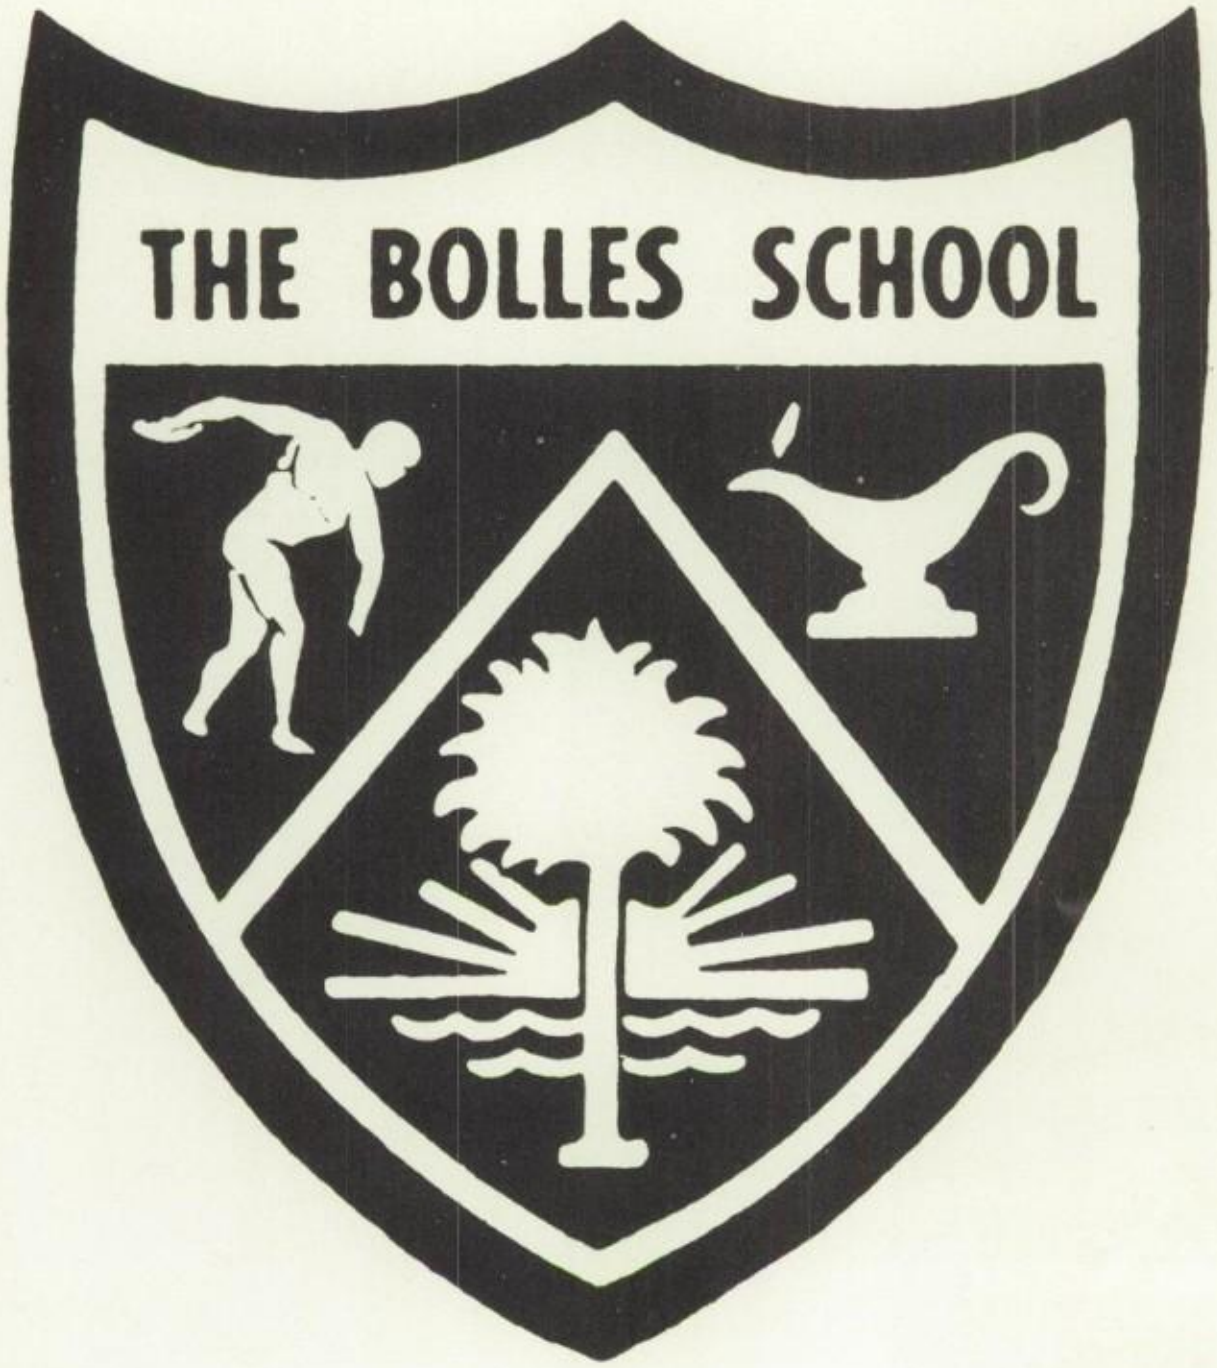
THE BOLLES SCHOOL



THE BOLLES SCHOOL

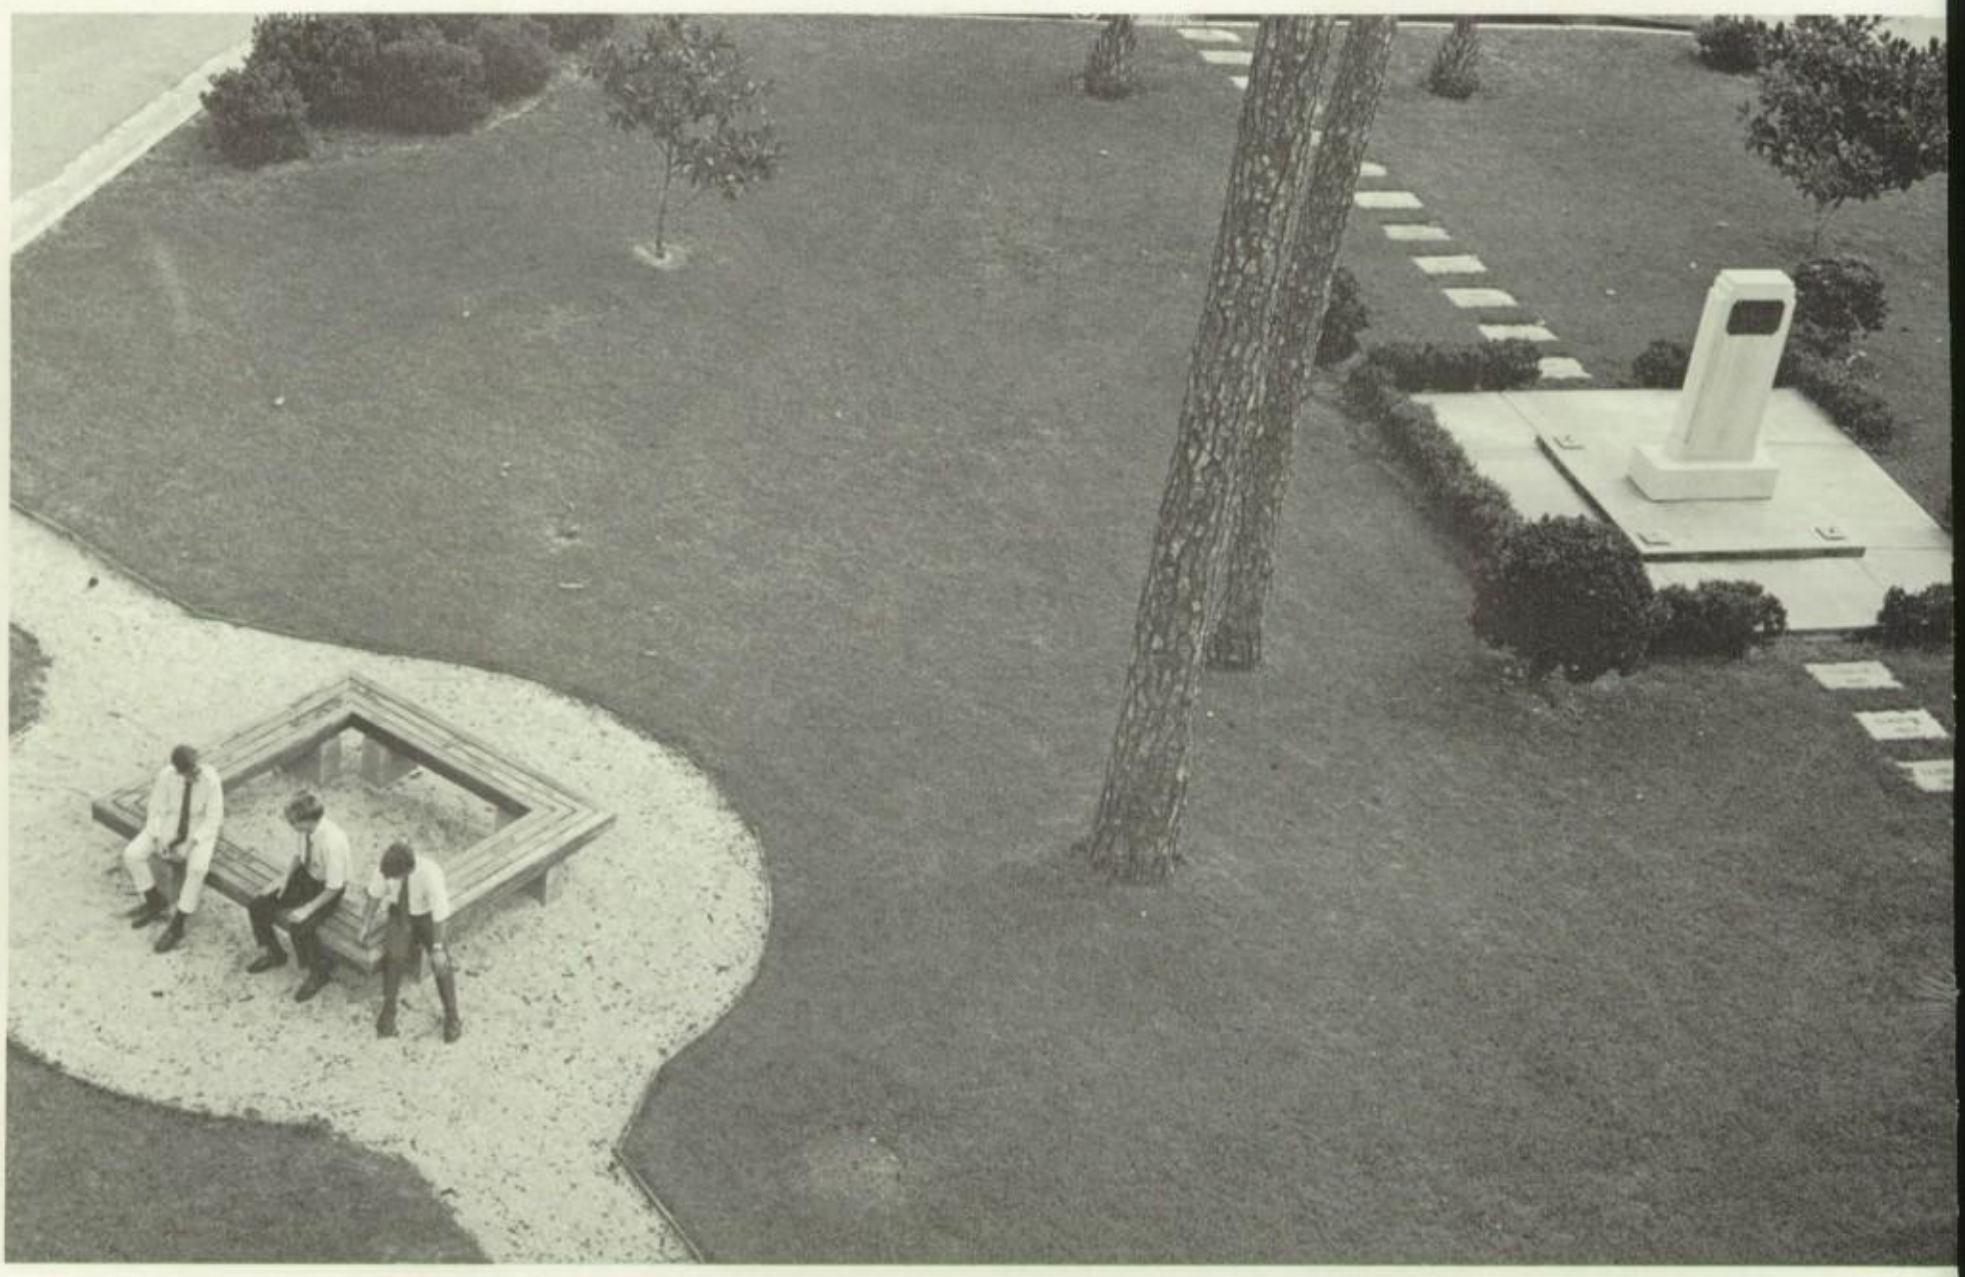
THE BOLLES SCHOOL

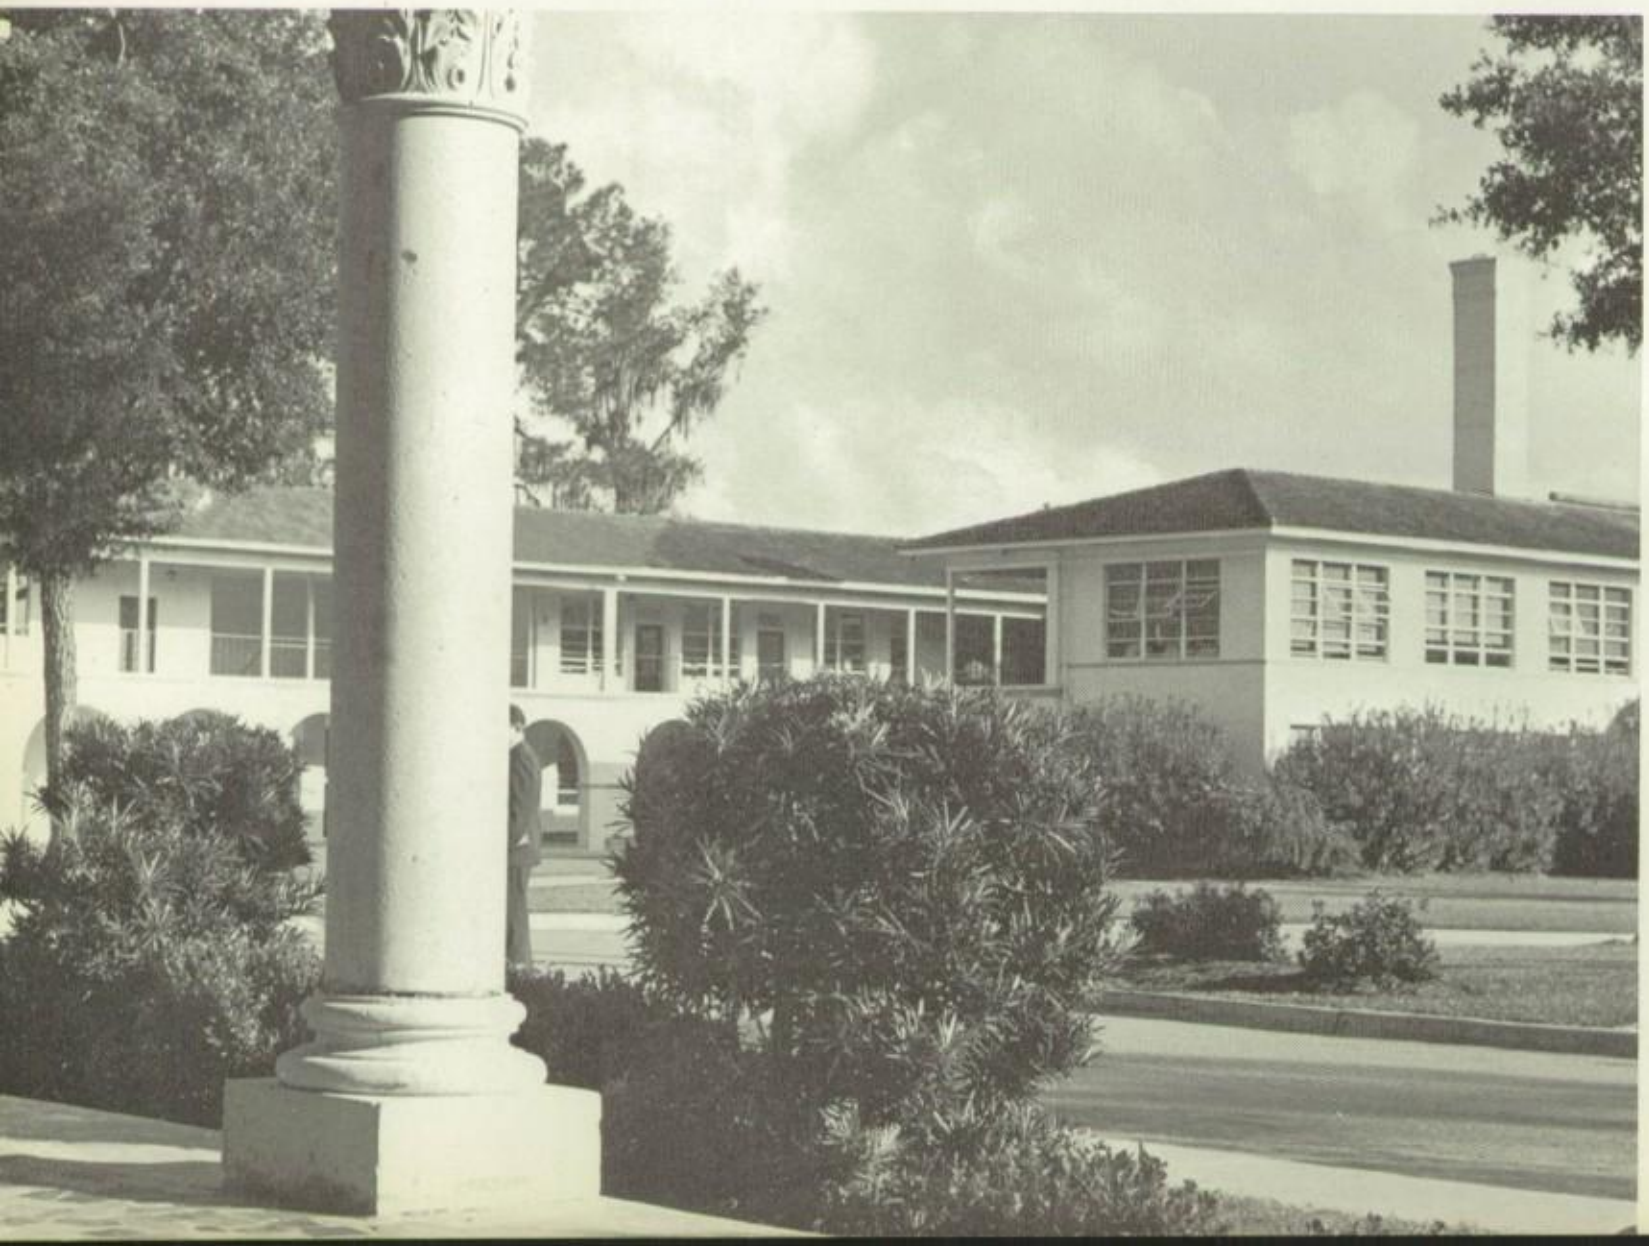


THE CREST

The crest of the Bolles School symbolizes the School itself. The three parts of the crest represent the three major areas of development of a Bolles student. The lamp of education embodies the development of a student's mind. The palm tree stands for a student's social activities. The discus thrower represents a person's physical development.

Many schools concentrate and excel in only one or two of these aspects. Bolles attaches equal importance to each facet, and as a result produces well rounded students.

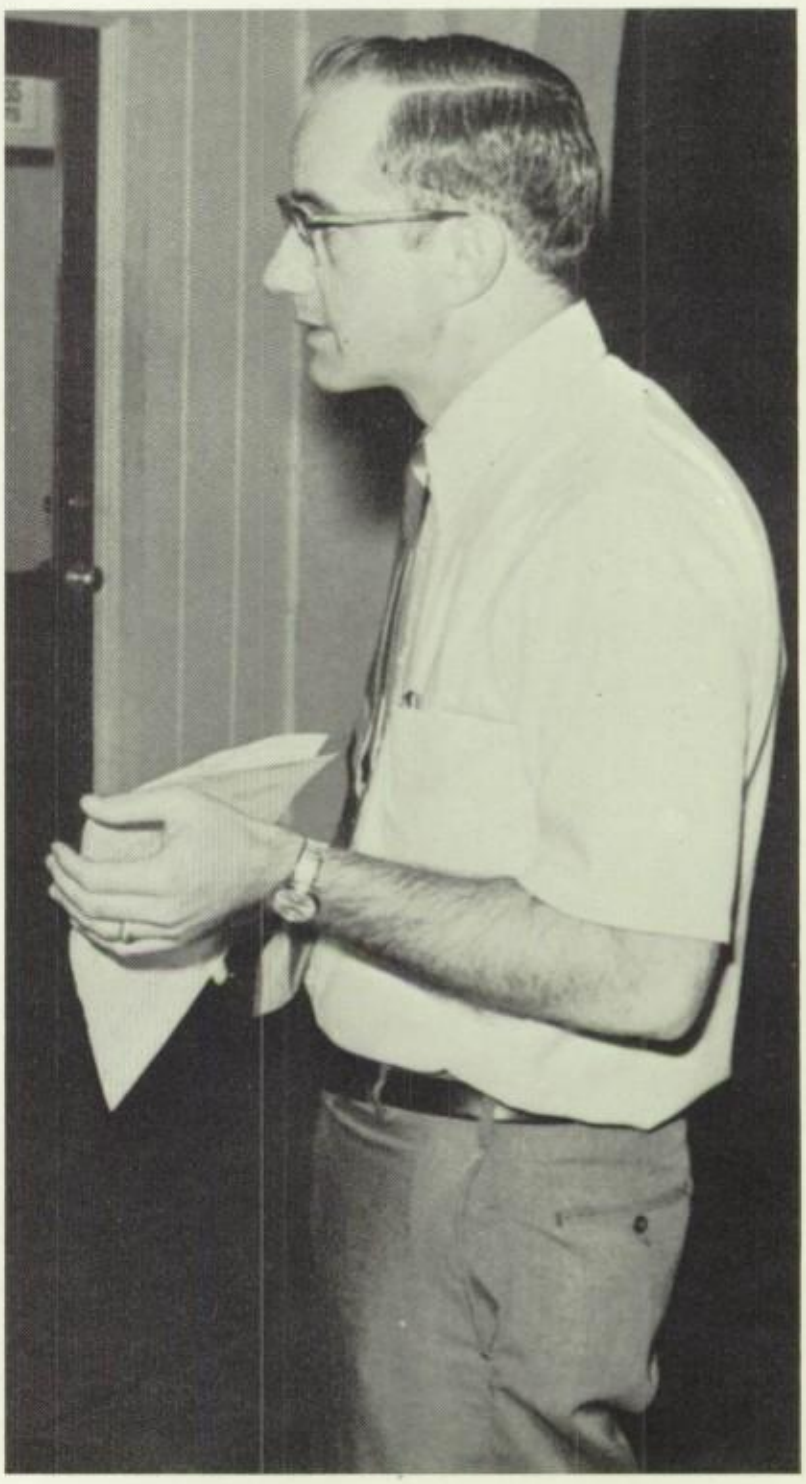




DEDICATION

WILLIAM N. BABCOCK

TEACHER ADVISOR FRIEND



As Chairman of the History Department, Faculty Advisory Council, Advisor to the Alpha Society, Debate Club and Senior Class, Mr. Babcock has become a key part of the Bolles Faculty. His round-the-clock efforts have made Bolles a better and more progressive center for the mental, physical and self development of the Bolles student. The members of the Turris Staff take pride in dedicating this yearbook to him.

THE LAMP OF EDUCATION

The lamp symbolizes the mental development of the student. This goal is reached as a result of a hard-working administration, capable teachers, and the students' quest for knowledge. Those students who excel in academics are eligible for membership in the Junior or Senior National Honor Society. Bolles offers a wide variety of subjects to accommodate all types of students. Aside from excellent instruction in standard courses, there are also electives from which a student may choose to give him a well balanced background.

HEADMASTER
DR. CARL E. REED

Almost a legendary figure at Bolles, our headmaster has been largely responsible for the many improvements that have taken place in recent years. His dedication to responsibility has provided the much-needed library and sports facilities. Dr. Reed continues to strive for superiority in every area of Bolles' life.

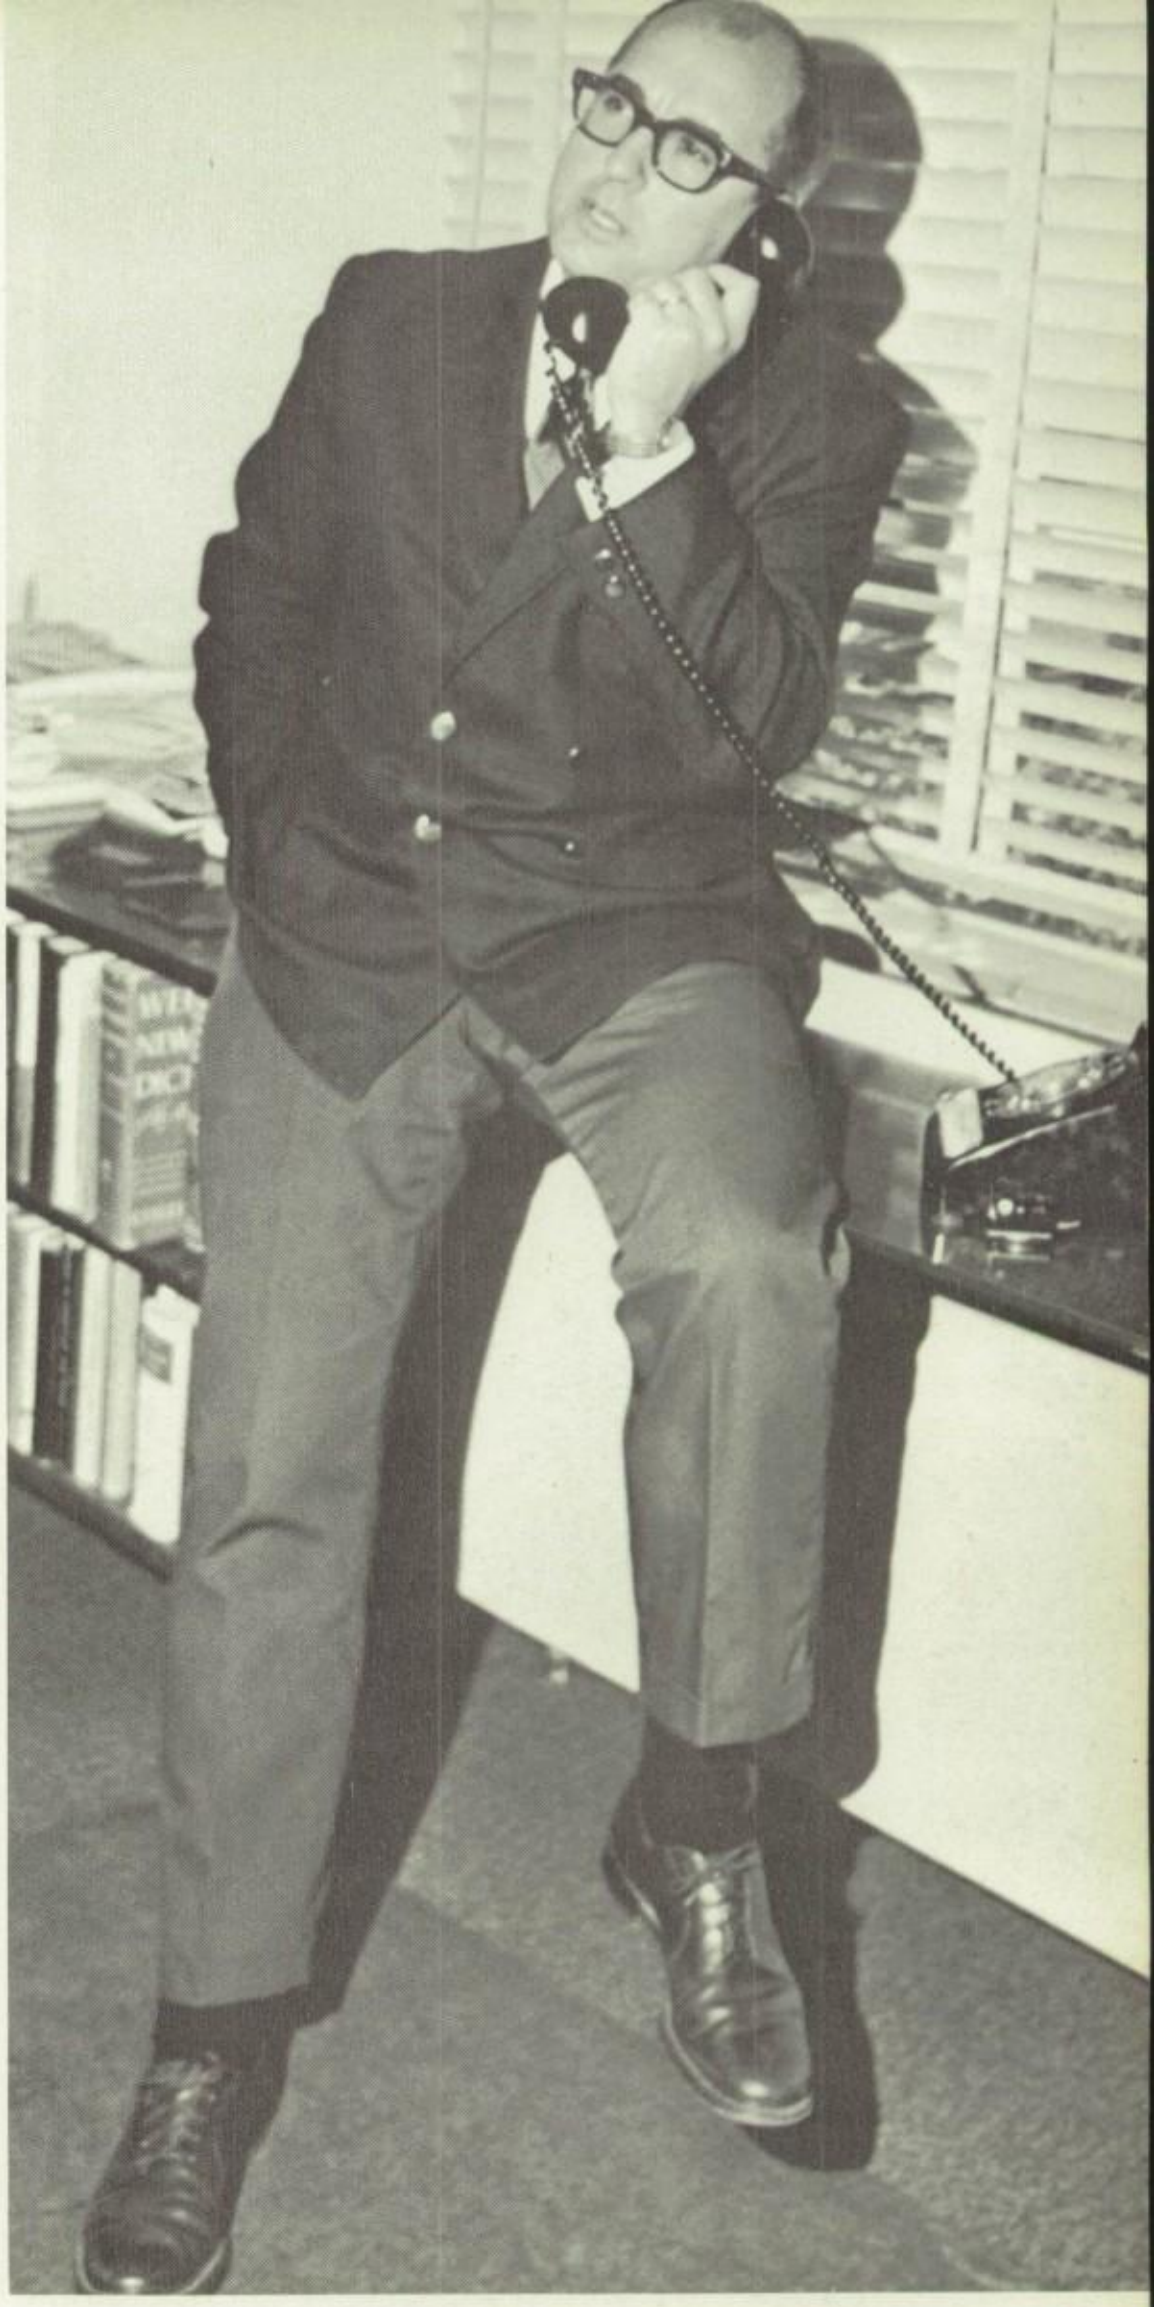
Dr. Reed eyes the situation.

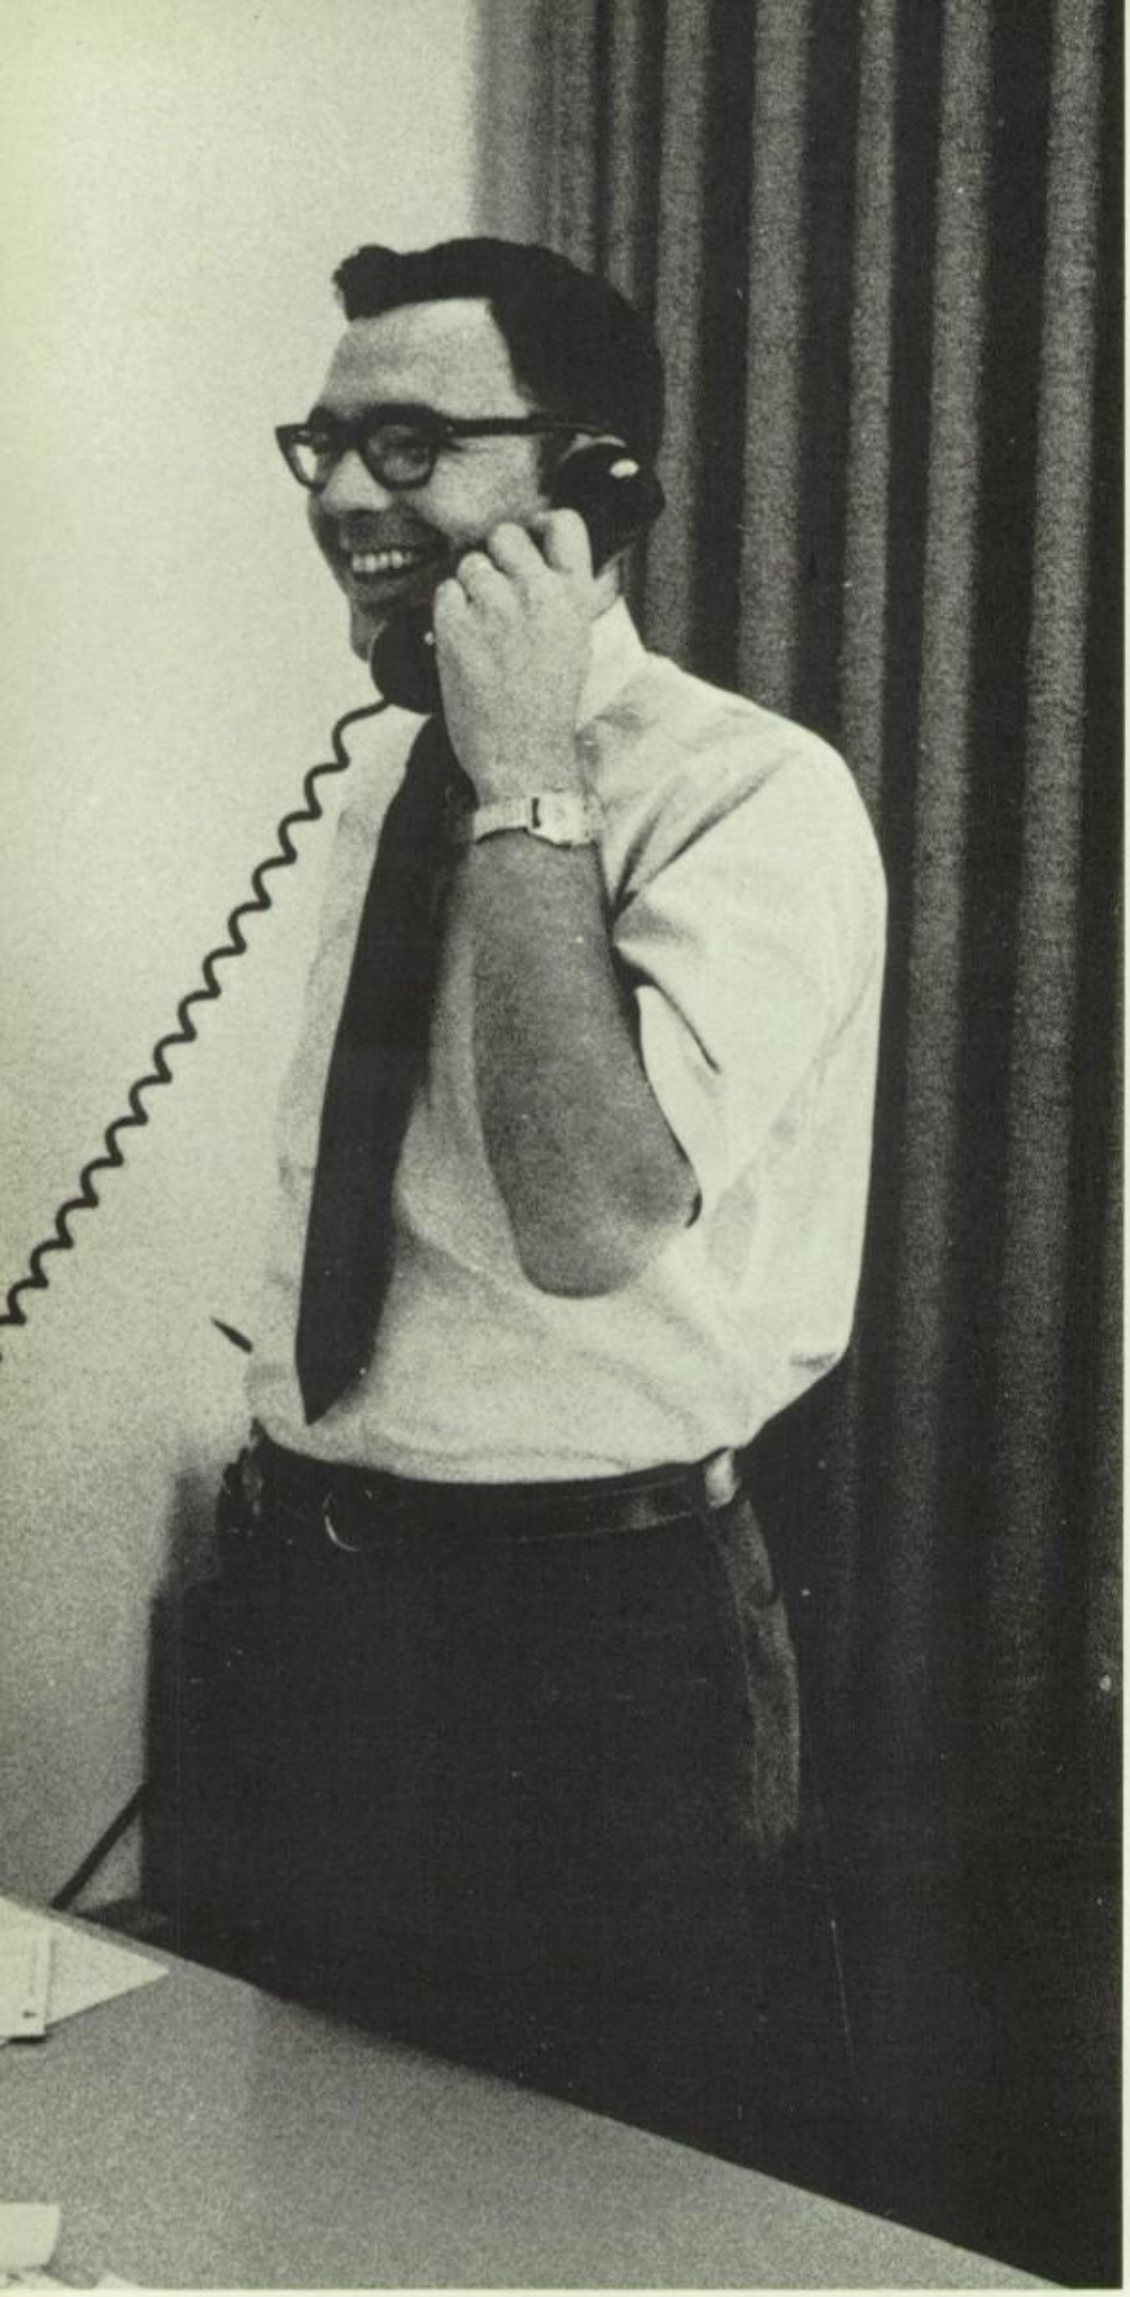
ASSISTANT HEADMASTER

In virtually any school, there is at least one member of the administration who possesses the extraordinary ability to keep a close association with the student body. Bolles, thanks to Mr. Joseph T. Dyess, is no exception. In addition to this position which he fills so ably, Mr. Dyess serves as Director of Guidance and teaches English. He manages to bridge the gap between the student body and the administration so that life is more tolerable to both parties – this unique talent assures him of a place in the memories of all students.

DIRECTOR OF STUDIES

The responsibility of programming all classes and planning the entire academic day is an awesome task. It falls to Mr. Rufus McClure. During his eighteen years of service to Bolles, he has worked continually to improve the standards of education and to make Bolles one of the top preparatory schools in the country.



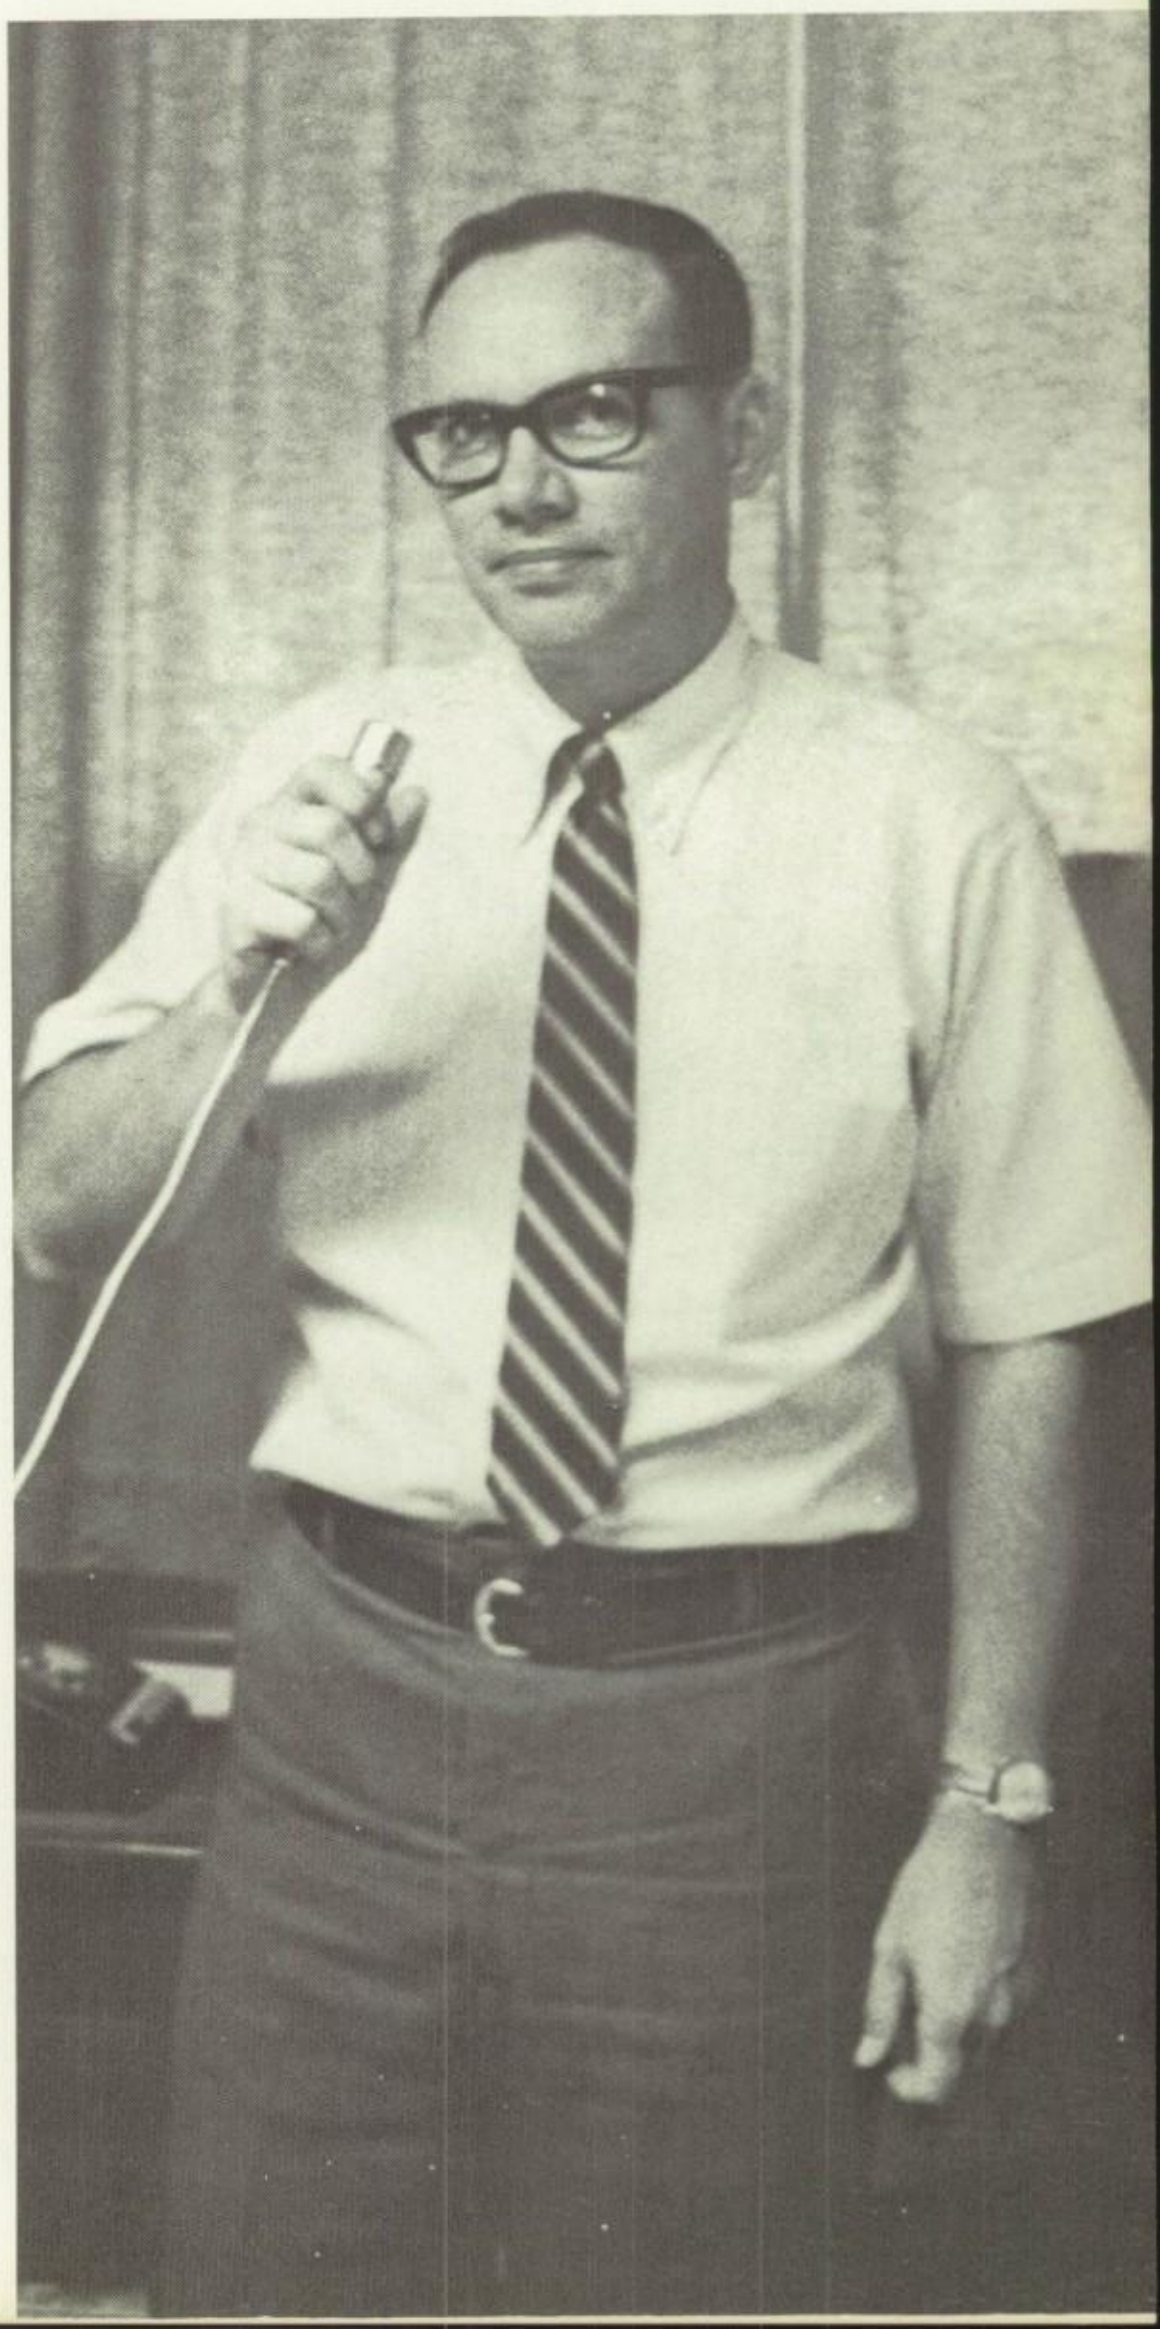


DIRECTOR OF ADMISSIONS

One of the most industrious individuals on the Bolles campus is Harry M. deMontmollin. This year, "Mr. D" assumed the post of Director of Admissions in addition to his duties as Assistant to the Headmaster and Executive Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association. Since Mr. deMontmollin works behind the scenes, he does not receive the recognition that he deserves. However, those who come in contact with him can never forget his warm sense of humor.

DIRECTOR OF STUDENTS

A newcomer, Mr. William Goss, has taken over this most important post. His arrival at Bolles has produced a marked effect on the application of school rules; unlike in past years, they are being enforced uniformly and vigorously. In addition to enforcing school rules, his duties include planning student activities and inspecting school facilities. In his first year, Mr. Goss has done much to restore the students' respect for this position.

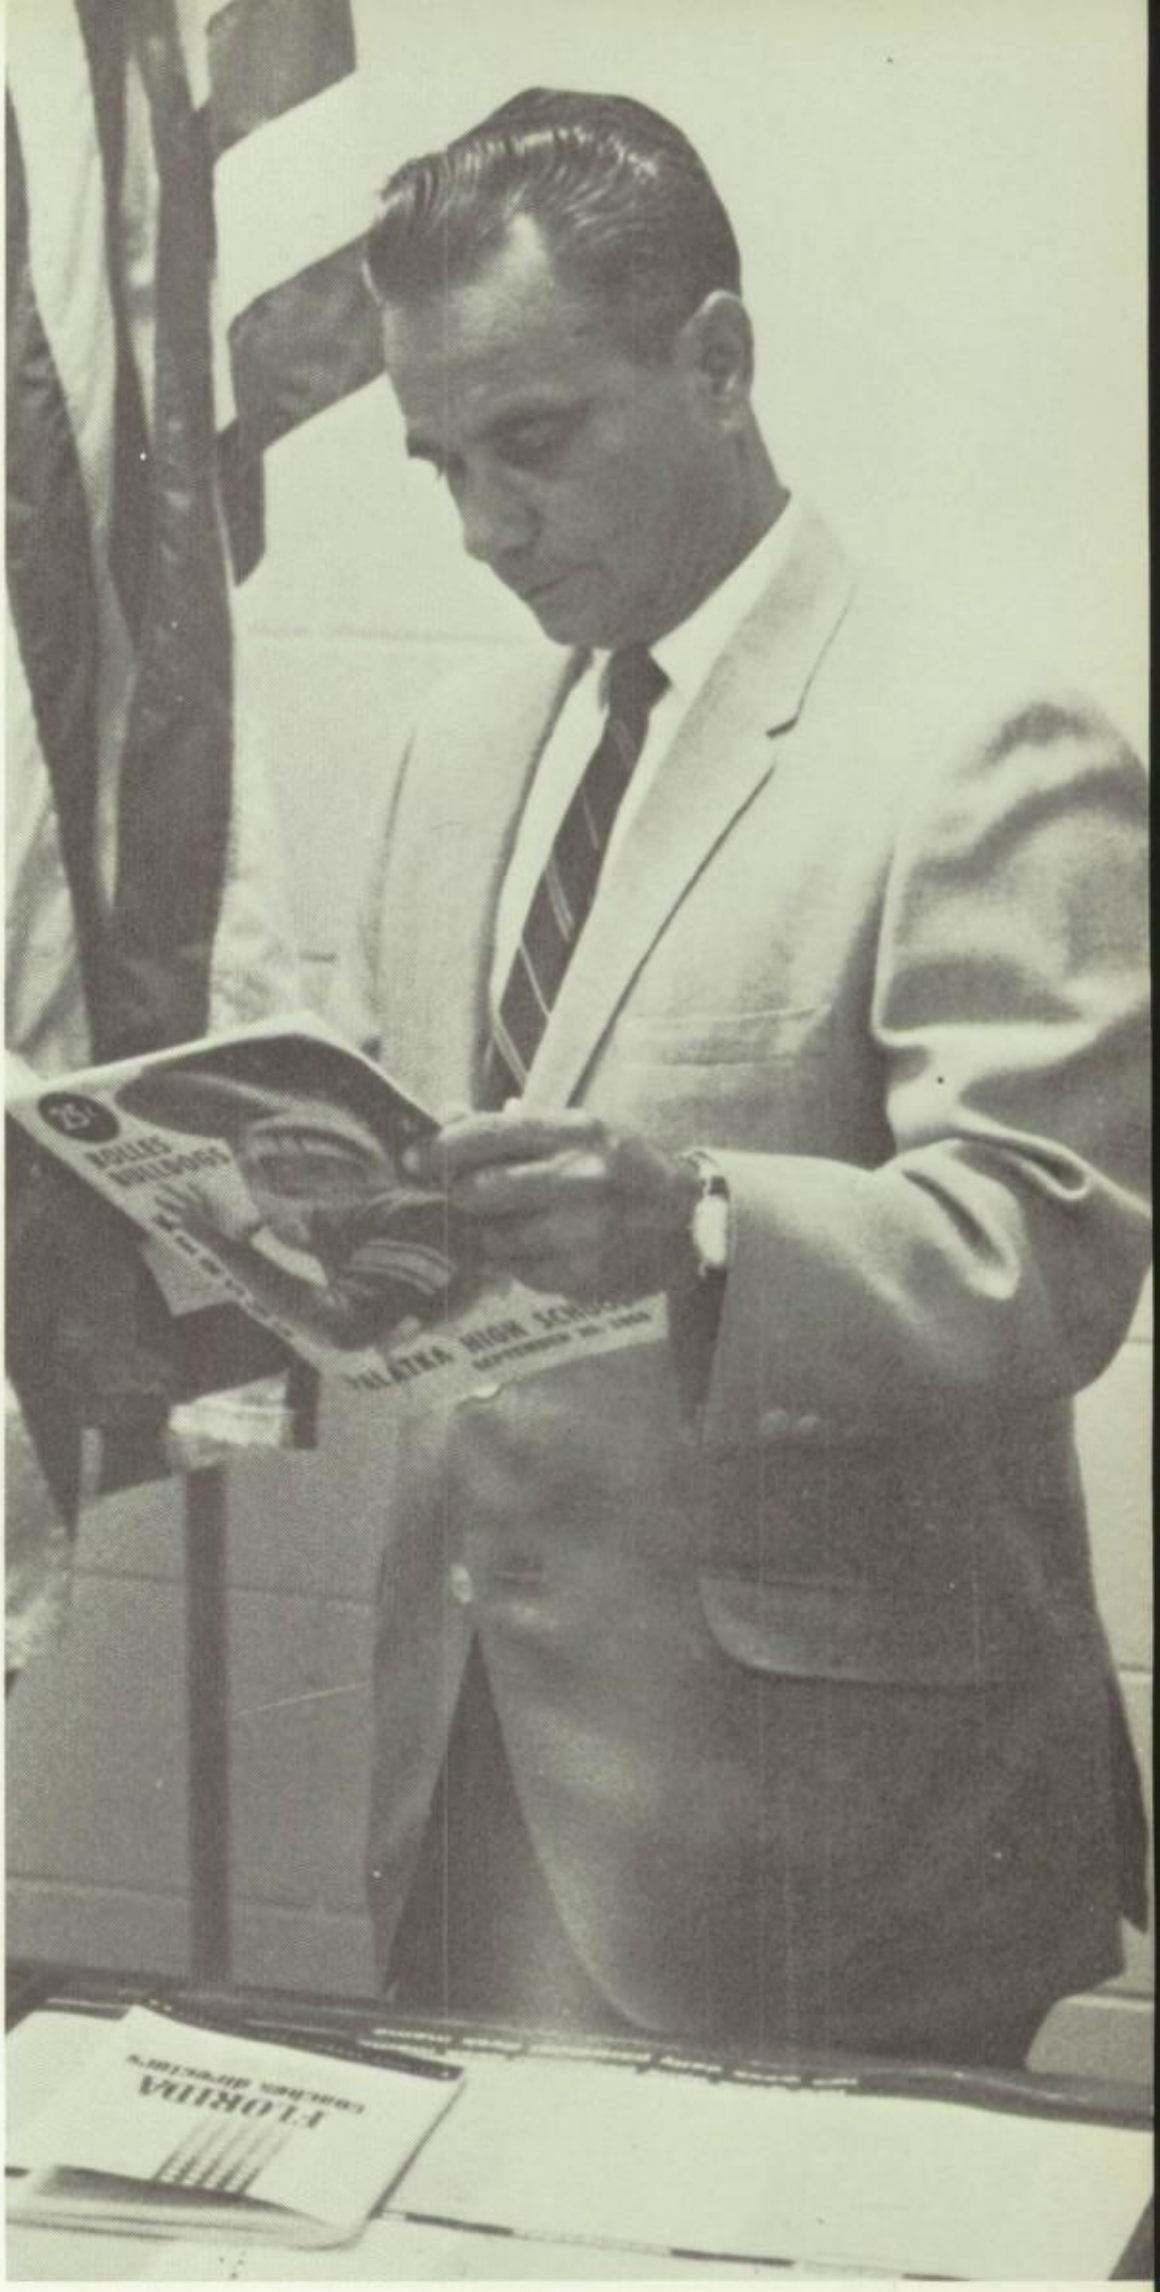


DIRECTOR OF LOWER SCHOOL

The Bolles Lower School is directed by Mr. J.A. Crowell. Under his guidance, the seventh and eighth grade students undergo the difficult task of preparing for high school. He is always around to help Lower School students solve whatever problems they may have –large or small. The Lower School teaches Bolles' leaders of tomorrow. This important part of Bolles could not function without the attention of Mr. Crowell.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

At Bolles, Physical Education is considered to be complementary to the education received in the classroom, since mental fitness depends reciprocally upon physical fitness. With this in mind, our Director of Athletics, Mr. O.S. Garces, must head the Sports program for the year. It is his job to arrange the schedule for all inter-scholastic events and to plan the intramural program. This is Mr. Garces' first year in this position although he has been a Spanish instructor at Bolles for the past twenty-six years.



BUSINESS STAFF

Bolles' Business Staff, unseen in their complicated task of bookkeeping, general office work, stenography, and balancing the school budget, deserves but asks no praise or reward for their hard work and sacrifice. However, without their efforts, such an organization as Bolles could not function. All students should be aware of their crucial job and offer unstinted praise to such a dedicated staff.

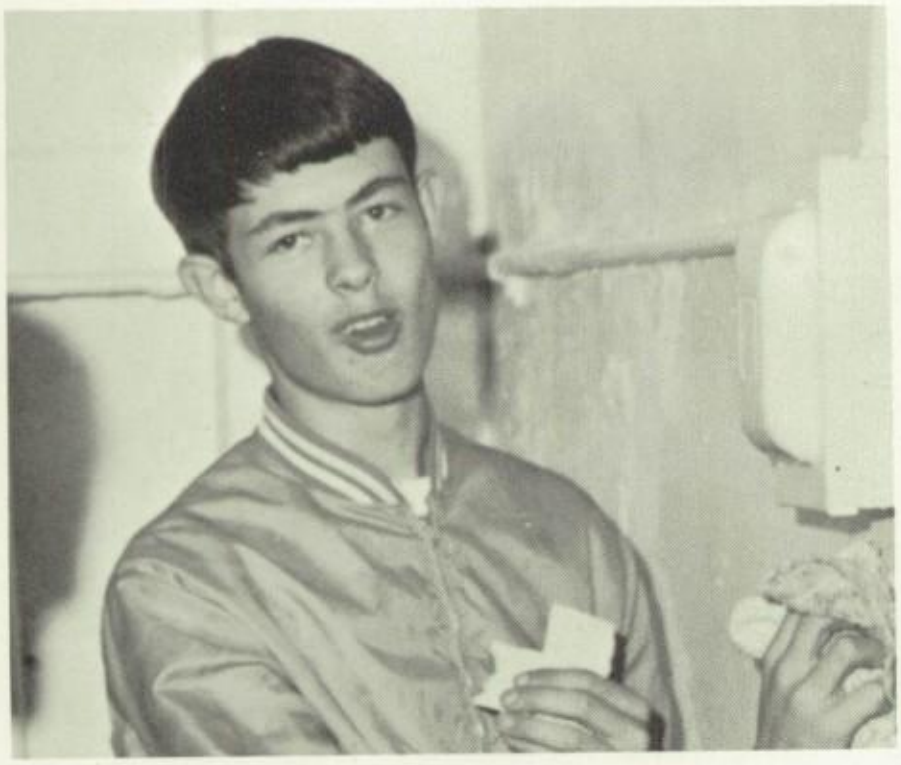
INFIRMARY

Rosella Marchand

Under the able direction of Mrs. Rosella Marchand, the infirmary provides any medical attention that may be needed. The nurse is available for any emergency, large or small. Mrs. Marchand has become a great asset to Bolles and we could not function effectively without her.



Mr. Revord

SLATER FOOD SERVICE

During the past few years, the ARA Slater Restaurant Association, under the direction of Mr. Revord, has created culinary wonders from the Bolles kitchen. No matter what the occasion, Slater manages to come up with innovations pleasing to the eye and to the palate. A tip of the hat to the ARA Slater Service.

ENGLISH

The relatively new Bolles English staff, headed by Mr. J. D. Britt, has rocketed its way into the 1968-69 year. The department gives the student a comprehensive study in both American and English literature, as well as in grammar. But, the teachers have done more. They have aided the students in their quest for knowledge and given them a more complete view of modern society.

MATHEMATICS

This year the Bolles Math Department has skyrocketed under the new leadership of Mr. David Eaton. The math courses range from Lower School mathematics to Algebra I and II, geometry, trigonometry, and for more advanced students, calculus. The math staff this year is characterized by years of experience. They have developed exceptional methods of instruction in a field that demands patience, precision, accuracy, and above all, independent thought and study.

HISTORY

The History Department, which is closely coordinated with the English Department, provides the student not only with the "whens" and "whats," but more important, the "whys" —the dealing with the psychological as well as the superficial factors involved in history. Courses in European history, both ancient and modern, and American history, a two-year course for greater depth, present the student with an insight into events and their effects, and into life itself.

SCIENCE

One of Bolles' most outstanding departments is science. The courses offered include biology, general science, chemistry, and physics, plus Advanced Placement courses in chemistry and biology. Through science the student learns self-discipline and in the lab the desire to know is instilled in everyone.

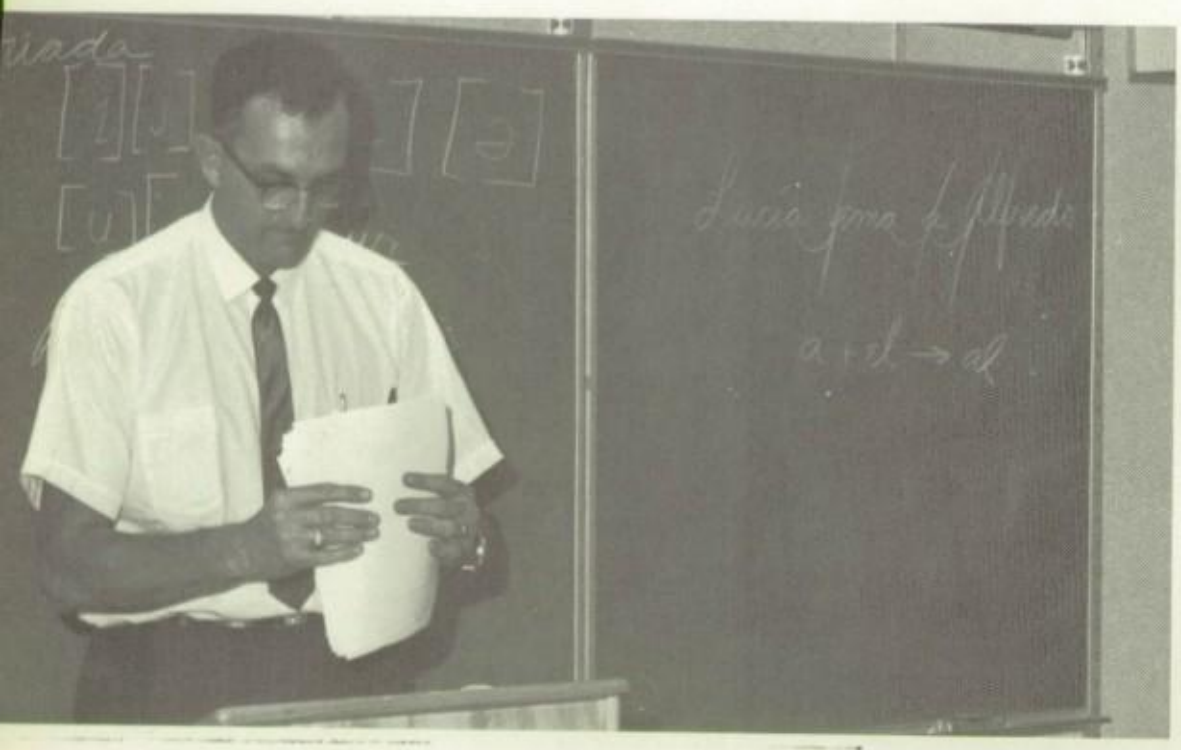
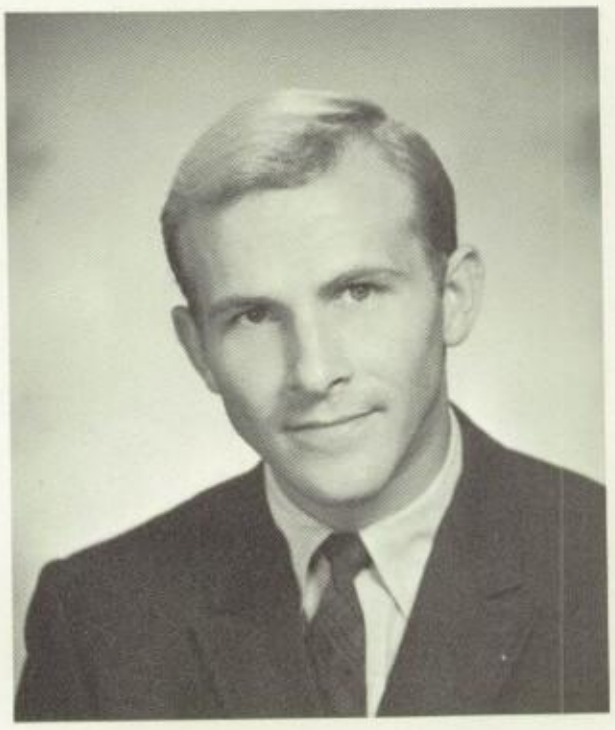
LANGUAGE

Albert F. Bachleda

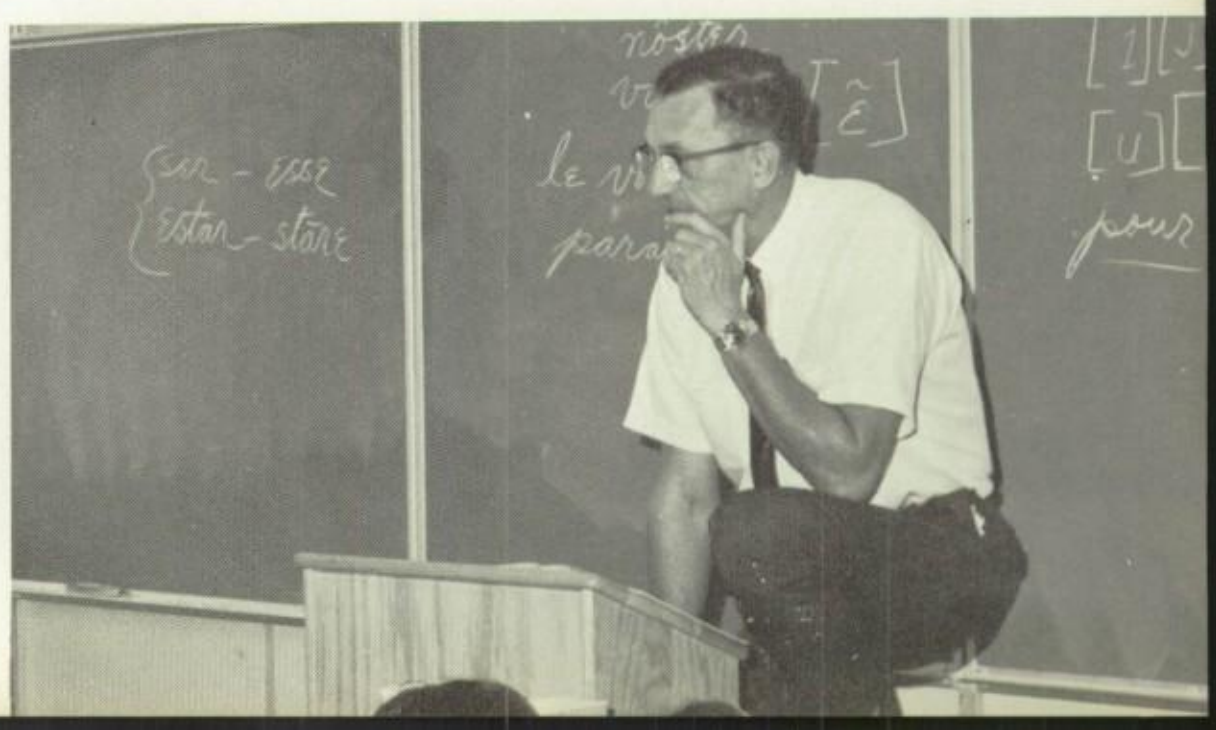




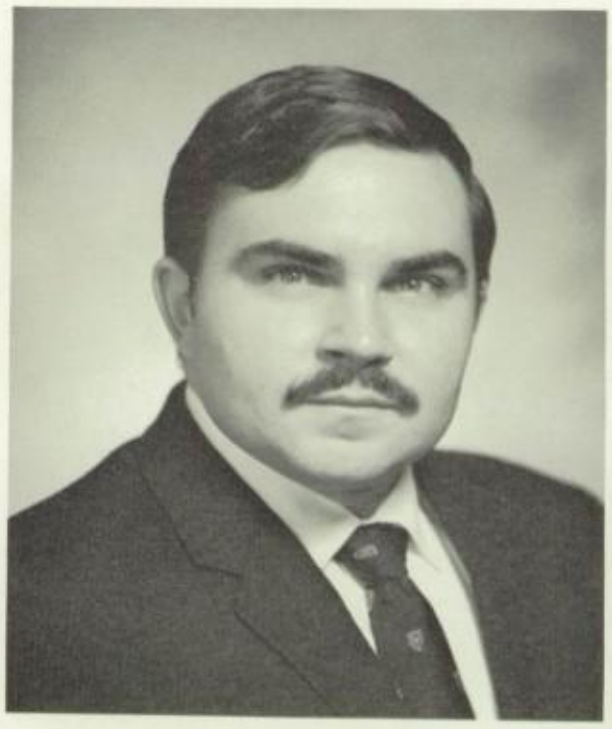
Oyvind Johansen

Bolles' Language Department this year follows its usual tradition of high quality and distinction. Headed by Mr. Fowler, the department consists of many teachers who have had long experience in many countries abroad. To increase its flexibility, the department has in the planning stages a new language lab, where the latest and most advanced equipment will be utilized as teaching aids.

Michael P. Wolan



PSYCHOLOGY



Scott A. Gifford

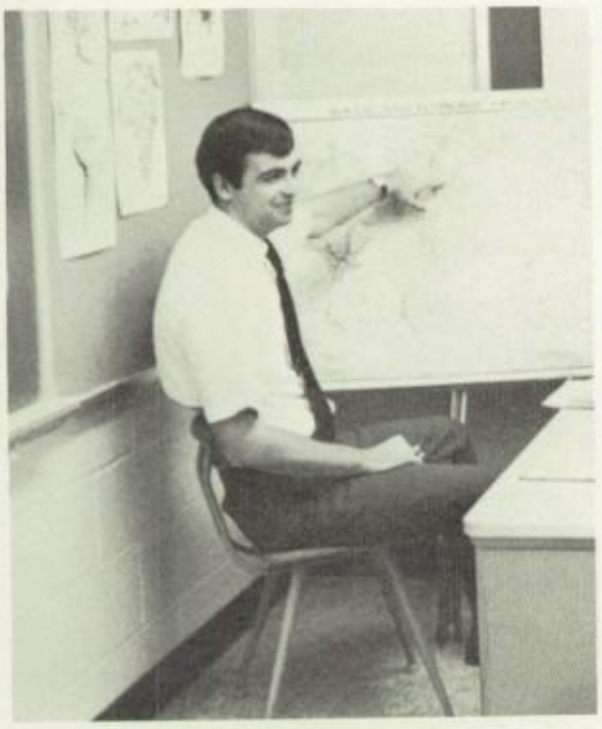
This is the second year that psychology has been offered as an elective. Under the dynamic leadership of Mr. Gifford, the students explored many aspects of this fascinating subject and worked to improve their individual mental capabilities.

Betty M. Huddleston, Thomas H. Gunn, Arthur J. Carnes

HUMANITIES

BUSINESS EDUCATION

In the complicated world of today's business, much greater emphasis is being placed on rudimentary skills in business education. Bolles, in keeping pace with this emphasis, offers courses in economics and typing – under the direction of Mrs. McCuller and Mr. Thacker.



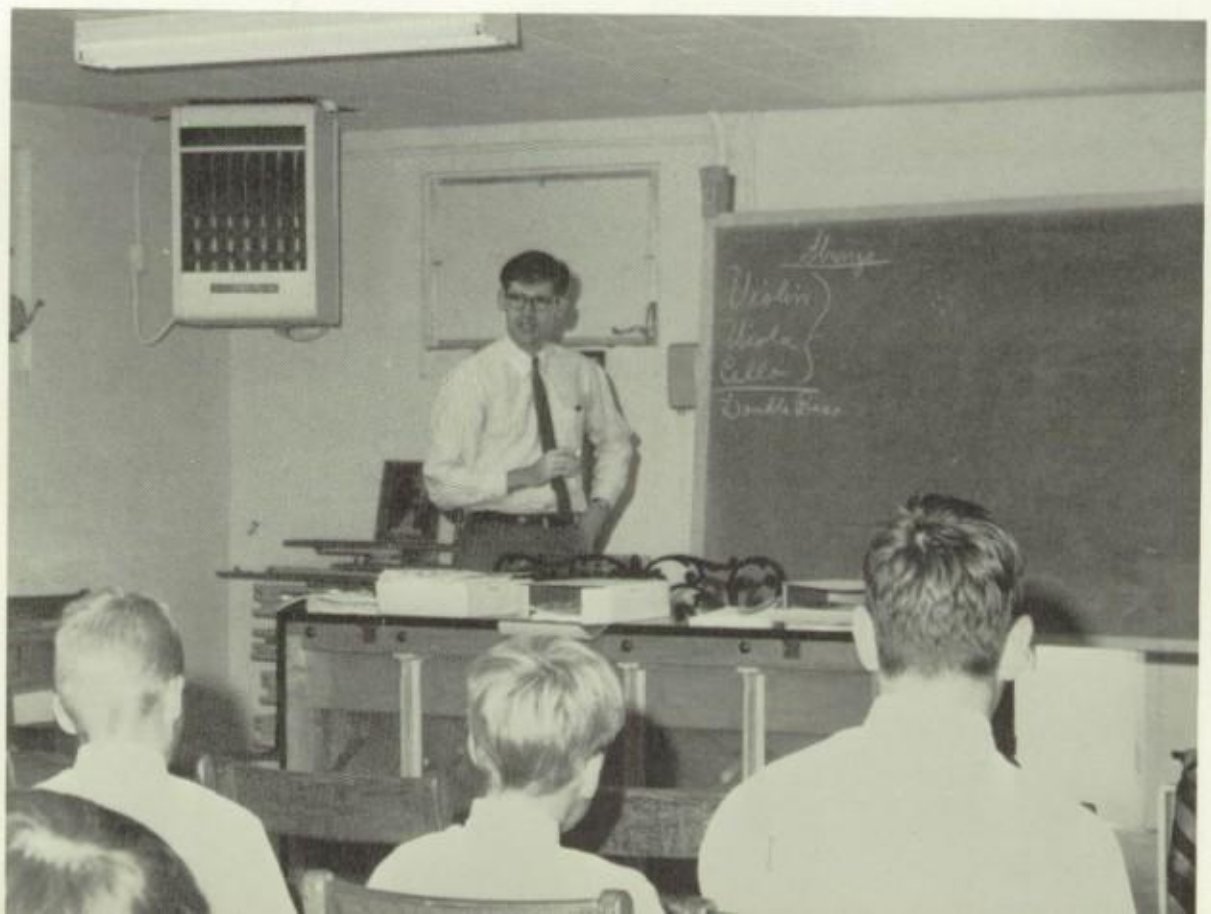
James R. Thacker

Margeret McCuller

Thomas H. Gunn

MUSIC

The Music Department, under the direction of Mr. Thomas Gunn, not only teaches its students to sing but it also broadens their cultural realm. By studying musical theory and putting that theory into practice, the student develops a better understanding of man and the world around him, thus adding a warm dimension to his existence at Bolles.

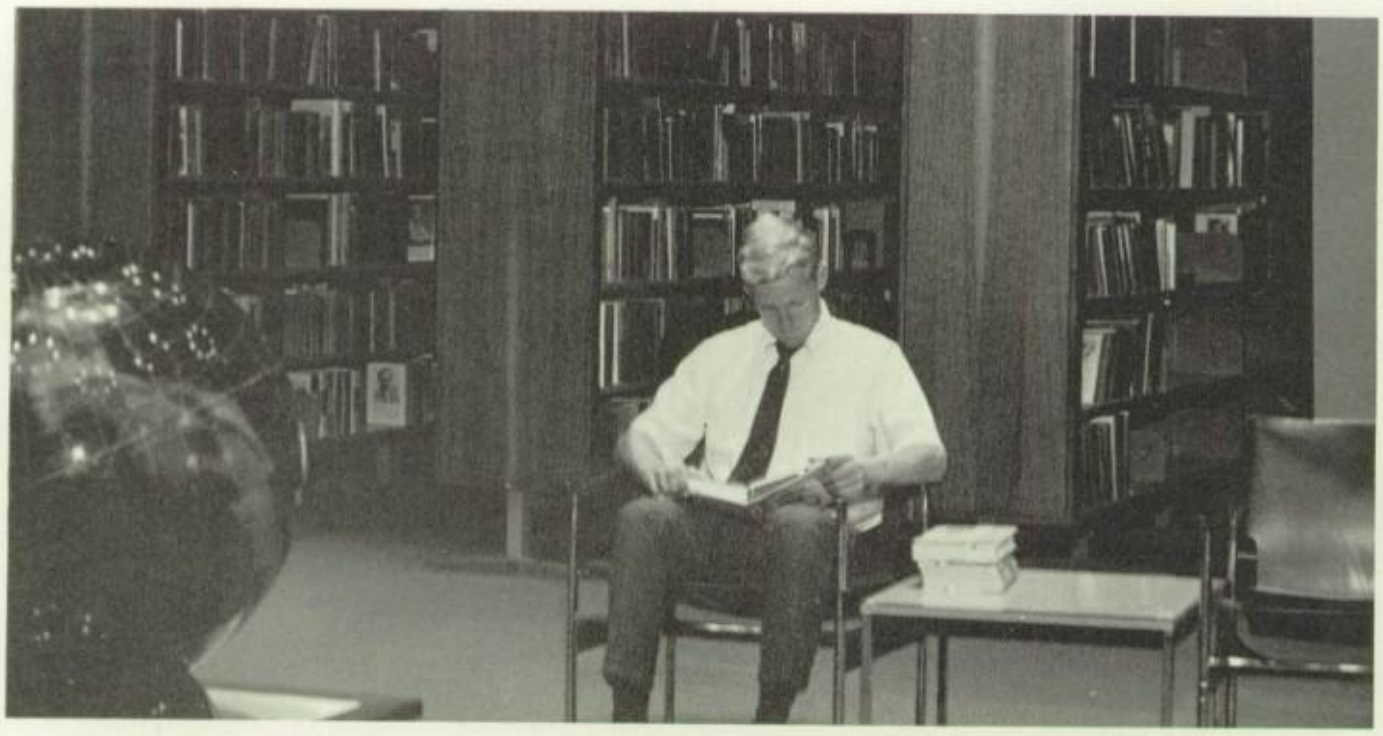


ART

Betty M. Huddleston

Bolles recognizes the fact that the imagination must be brought out in youth in order to broaden a student's knowledge. The art classes give the student an opportunity to utilize his imagination to its fullest extent.

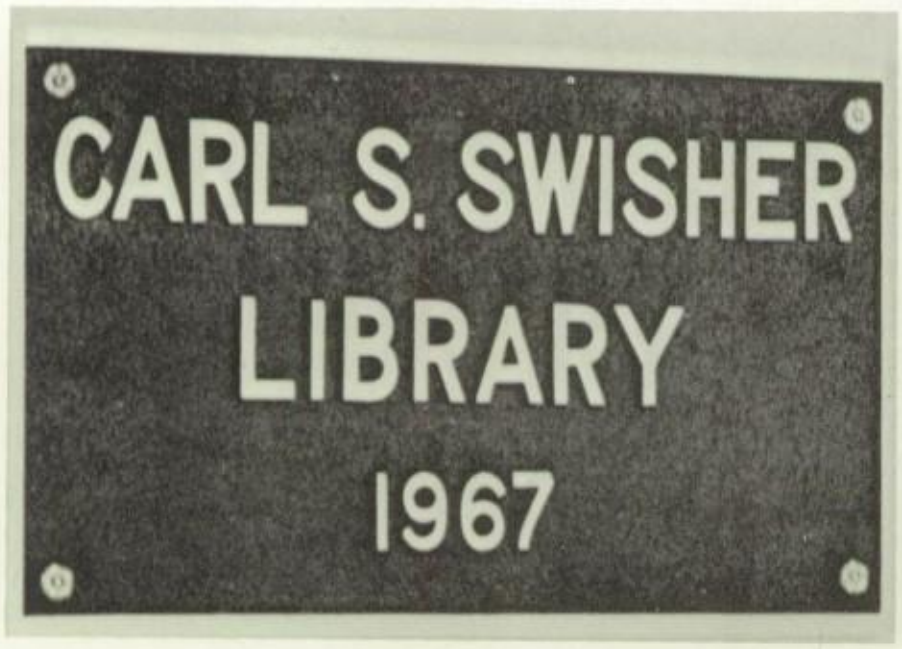
The lower grade level art classes emphasize rudimentary skills, while older boys are allowed to develop creativity on a more independent basis.

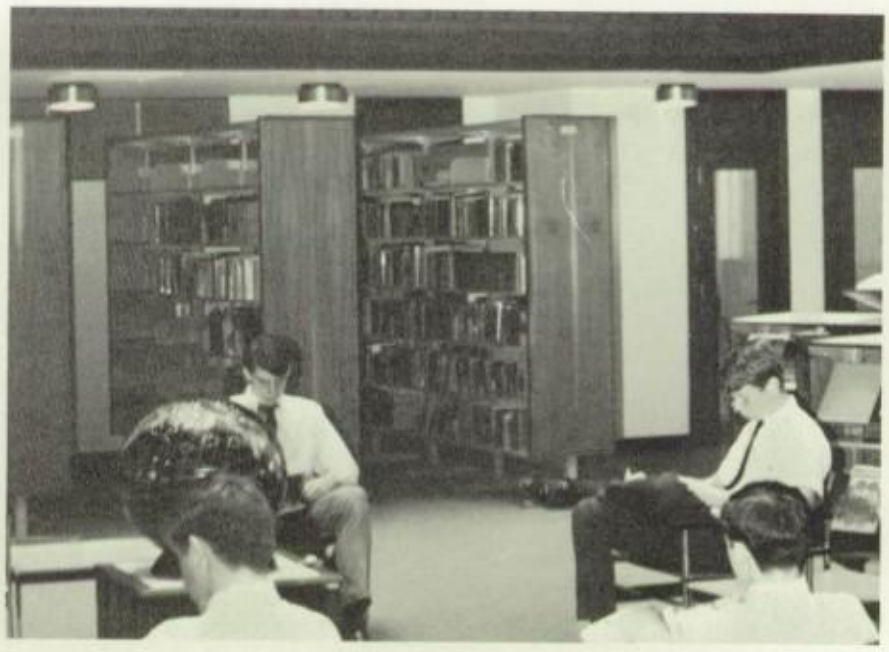


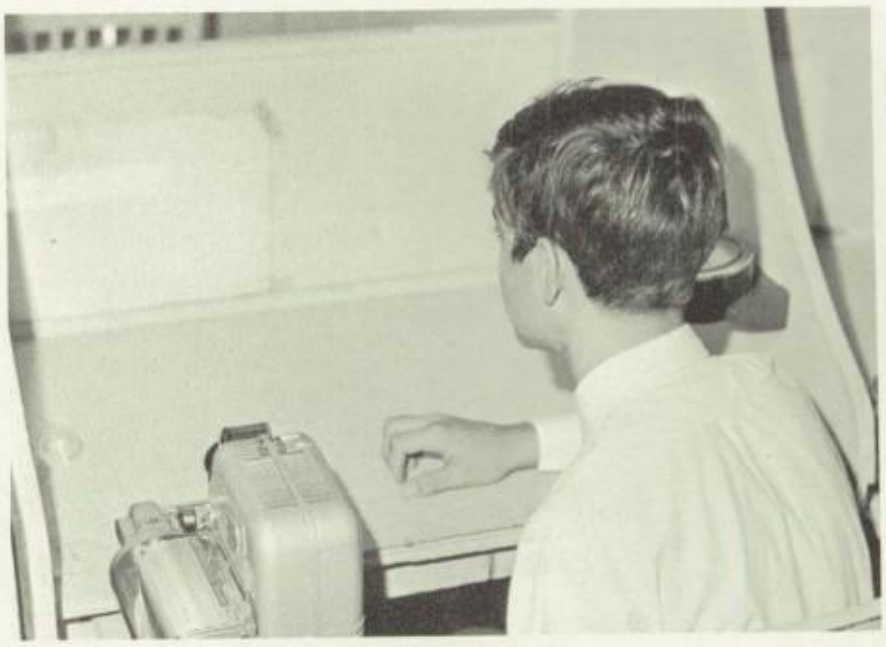
LIBRARY

In its second successful year of operation under the direction of Mrs. Smith, the Swisher Library is being used even more extensively as its potential is realized. Ultra-modern in design and with triple the handling capacity of the old library, it provides an atmosphere synonymous with studying. The latest in educational aids are used, including study carrels, a listening room with record players and records, and tape recorders and tapes. Acquisition and use of visual aids such as micro-films are in the immediate future. With efficient organization and direction, the new library has worked our marvelously and will continue to be an unlimitable asset to Bolles.

Dorothy Smith



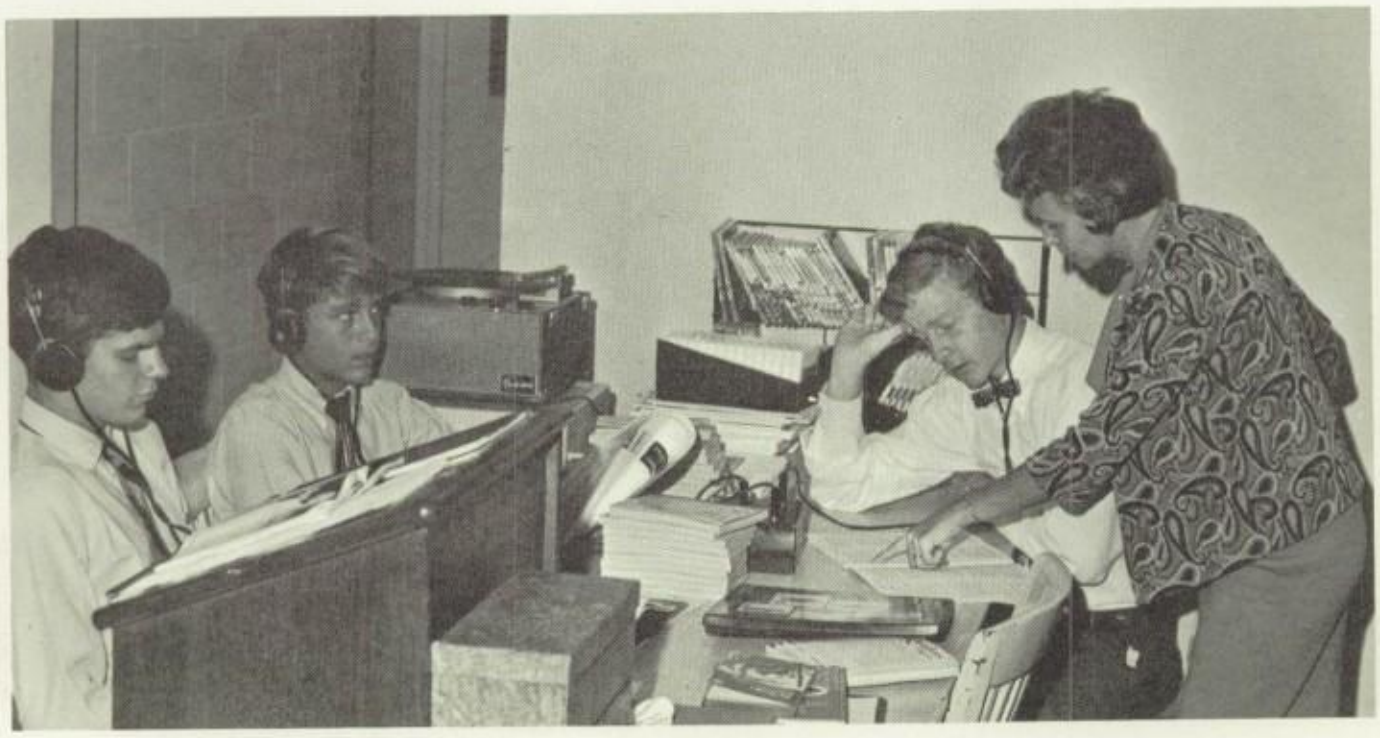




READING

With the fact in mind that most of the work done in college is reading, Bolles has developed a reading laboratory to insure improved skill in reading speed and comprehension of what is read. With help from Mrs. Yelton, the student progresses at a rate equal to his own ability. In this manner, he becomes more proficient in a skill fast-rising in importance.

Eleanor O. Yelton



CLASSES

THE BOLLES SCHOOL

SENIOR CLASS

Seniors . . . the end product of Bolles. This year, they searched for many things—for values, for goals, for themselves. Their class was unique in several aspects. It provided constructive leadership for the benefit of students and the greater benefit of Bolles. In addition, it served as a sounding board for many new ideas that confront tomorrow's leaders. They face the future cautiously, but not fearfully.

ALPHA SOCIETY

This local chapter of the National Honor Society, composed of individuals who have demonstrated good qualities of leadership and character, was much more active this year. It aided the school by serving during registration of both day-boys and boarders. Also, the society sponsored a tutoring program which was helpful to all students who enrolled.

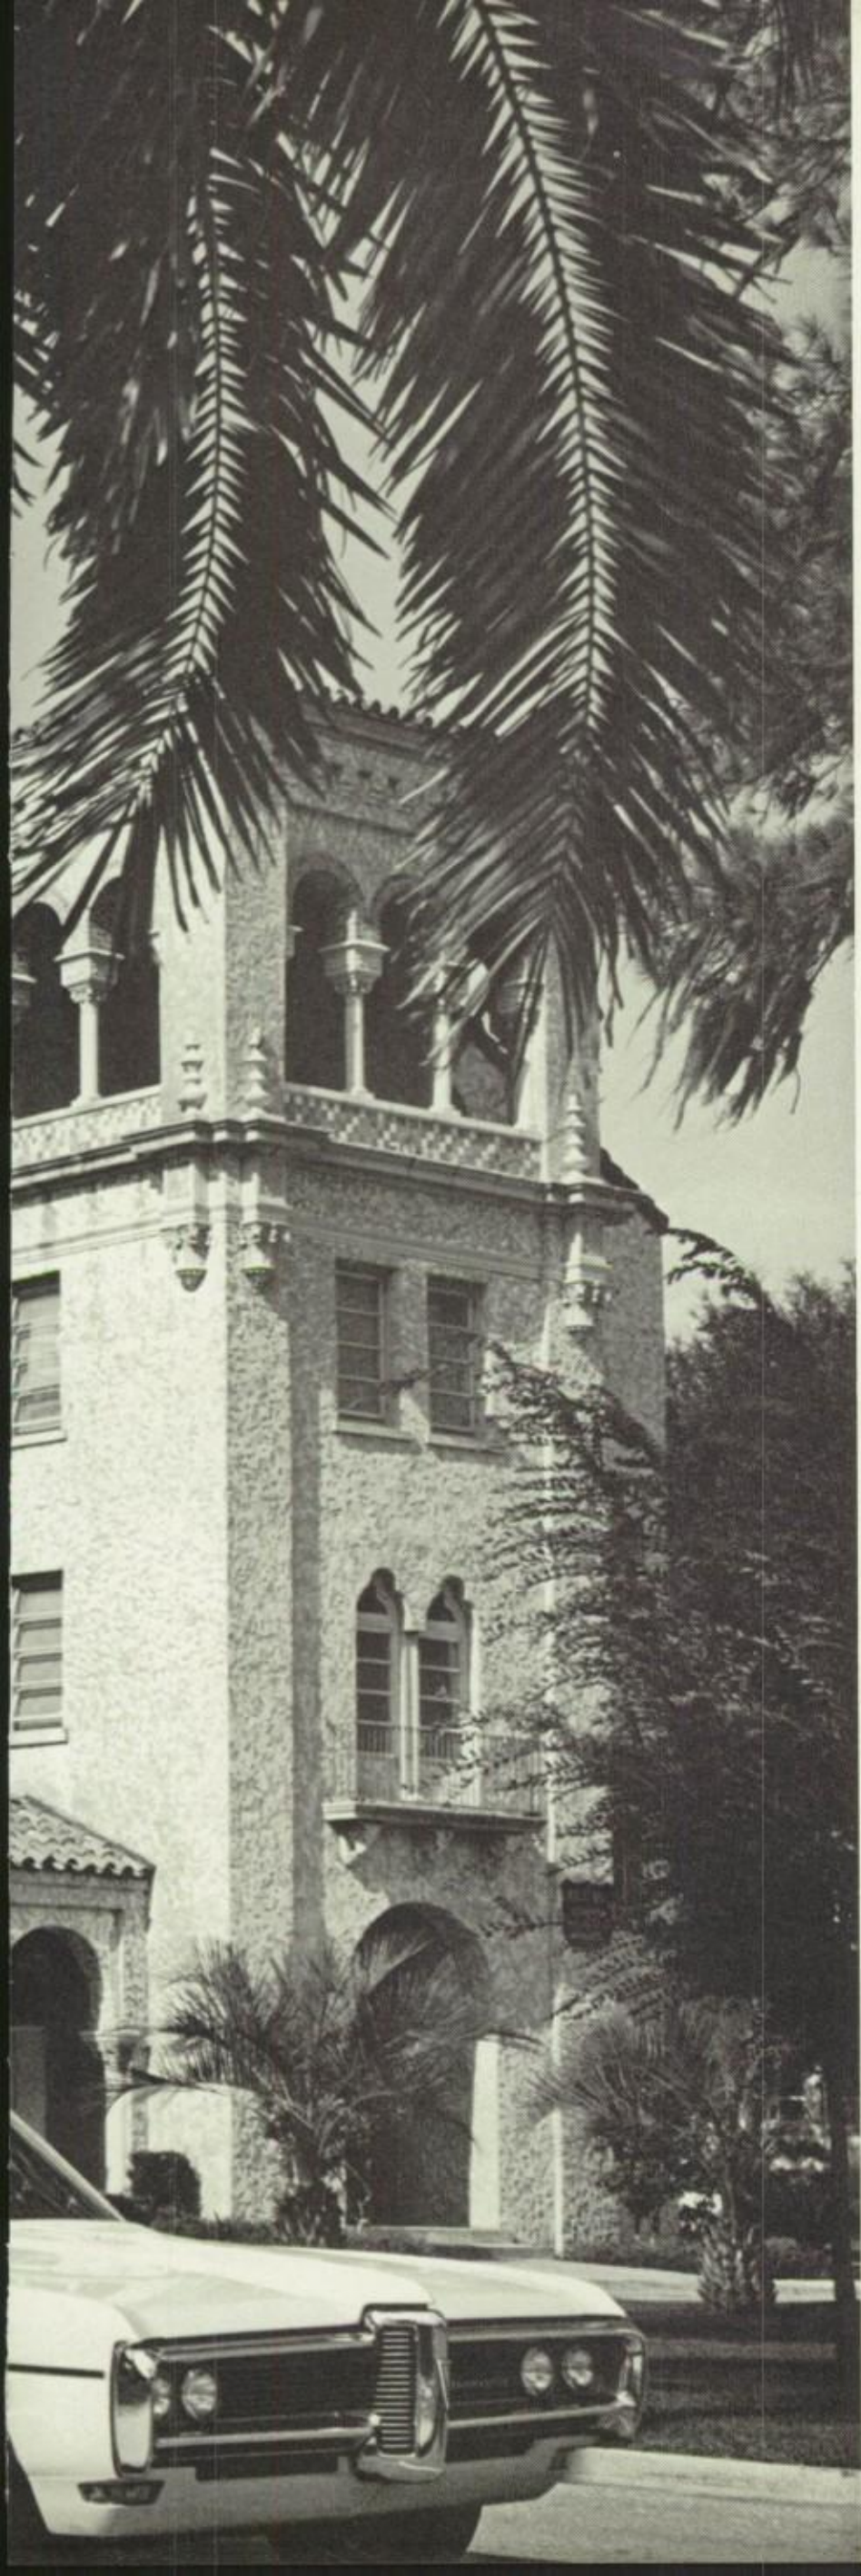
BETA SOCIETY

These young men make up the National Junior Honor Society. Revived in 1967, the club has become an outstanding organization with the sponsorship of Mr. Ellis Lanquist. Members of this club are to be commended for their performance of leadership and service.



THE PALM TREE

This part of the crest is representative of the student's social life on campus. This consists of the student government, the student organizations, and the individual activities of a student. The student government is made up of the Student Council, elected by the student body. The Council appoints proctors and judges to complete the student government. The students also have a wide variety of clubs from which to choose, ranging all the way from debate to model railroading. The wide variety of activities gives the student a chance to develop his outside interests. Although the student has a chance to become a part of the student body as a whole, he is very much an individual. These activities that make up a student's social life are the second part of the Bolles crest.

STUDENT

Bottom row: Eng, West, Shore. Back row: Woosley, Scribner, McCain, Clements, Consar, Wedgworth.

Officers: West, Mr. Dyess, Clements, Wedgworth, Cousar.

FIRST SEMESTER

The first semester Student Council hoped to realize students desires for improvement in all aspects of school life. Although no concrete legislation was passed, and subsequently approved by the administration, machinery for change was set up.

COUNCIL

SECOND SEMESTER

Consisting basically of the same personnel as the first semester's Council, the second Semester Student Council continued in its efforts to provide legislation favorable to the students' interests. Most notable of its attempts to attain more student freedom was the badly needed revision of the clothing regulations.

Officers: West, Mr. Dyess, Clements, Wedgworth, Cousar.

BOARDING COURT

Responsible for law and order in the dorms, the Boarder Court is headed by Judges Bill Bundy and John White. They are ably assisted by Clerks David Brown and James Cobb.

BRADLEY HALL

Bradley Hall, under the supreme authority of Jeff Wright and Peter Schandorff, housed the majority of the boarding seniors at Bolles this year. Located at the southern end of the third floor, it became noted for the Gestapo-like tactics of the proctors and hall supervisors. Due to this Gestapo-like supervision, the hall survived the trying year.

Bruce Robinson

Doug Townsend

McKNIFF HALL

McKniff Hall is located at the southern end of the second floor. Under the stern rule of Coach John Martin and Mr. Jonathan Fletcher (Flash), McKniff became greater as the year progressed. It has been best noted for its strict proctors, but still it has had its share of fun. Through the course of the year, McKniff Hall has proven itself to be a credit to Bolles.

SEARLES HALL

Searles Hall, located at the north end of the second floor, was led this year by its housemother, Mrs. Mabel Roane, and its hall supervisor, Coach Robertson. On the "milk and cookies" hall reside the lower school boarders. Through the able leadership of its hall supervisors and proctors, Searles has made the year 1968-69 a notable one.

SNYDER HALL

Snyder Hall, spearheaded by Mr. Frank Anderson, is found at the northern end of the third floor. Composed of an equal distribution of the upper school boarders, it has played an active role in the improvement of the school. Due to its spirited supervisor and energetic proctors, Snyder has been a great contribution to the Bolles dorm.

DAY BOY PROCTORS

This dedicated group of young men is an essential part of student government at Bolles. They maintain order on the campus, without showing bias in their judgement or in their behavior. Because of their outstanding job in this area, they deserve every student's commendation.

1st row, Kneeling: Woosley, Silver, McCain, Cousar, West.
2nd row: Jaben, Zahra, Raybin, Taylor, Howard, Hartzer.
3rd row: Skinner, Toole, Culler.

DINING ROOM PROCTORS

Keeping order in the lunchroom is the job of this competent group of young gentlemen. Their duties include preventing unauthorized persons from breaking into the lunchline and making sure trays are put away properly.

PROCTOR

Kneeling: Adams, Thomas. Standing: Eng, Hays.

JR. SCHOOL PROCTORS

Junior School Proctors are responsible for carrying out the rules of the Student Council and the Court System. For this reason, order and discipline has greatly improved in the Junior School.

Kneeling: McNeil, Rush. Standing: Mitchell, Anderson.

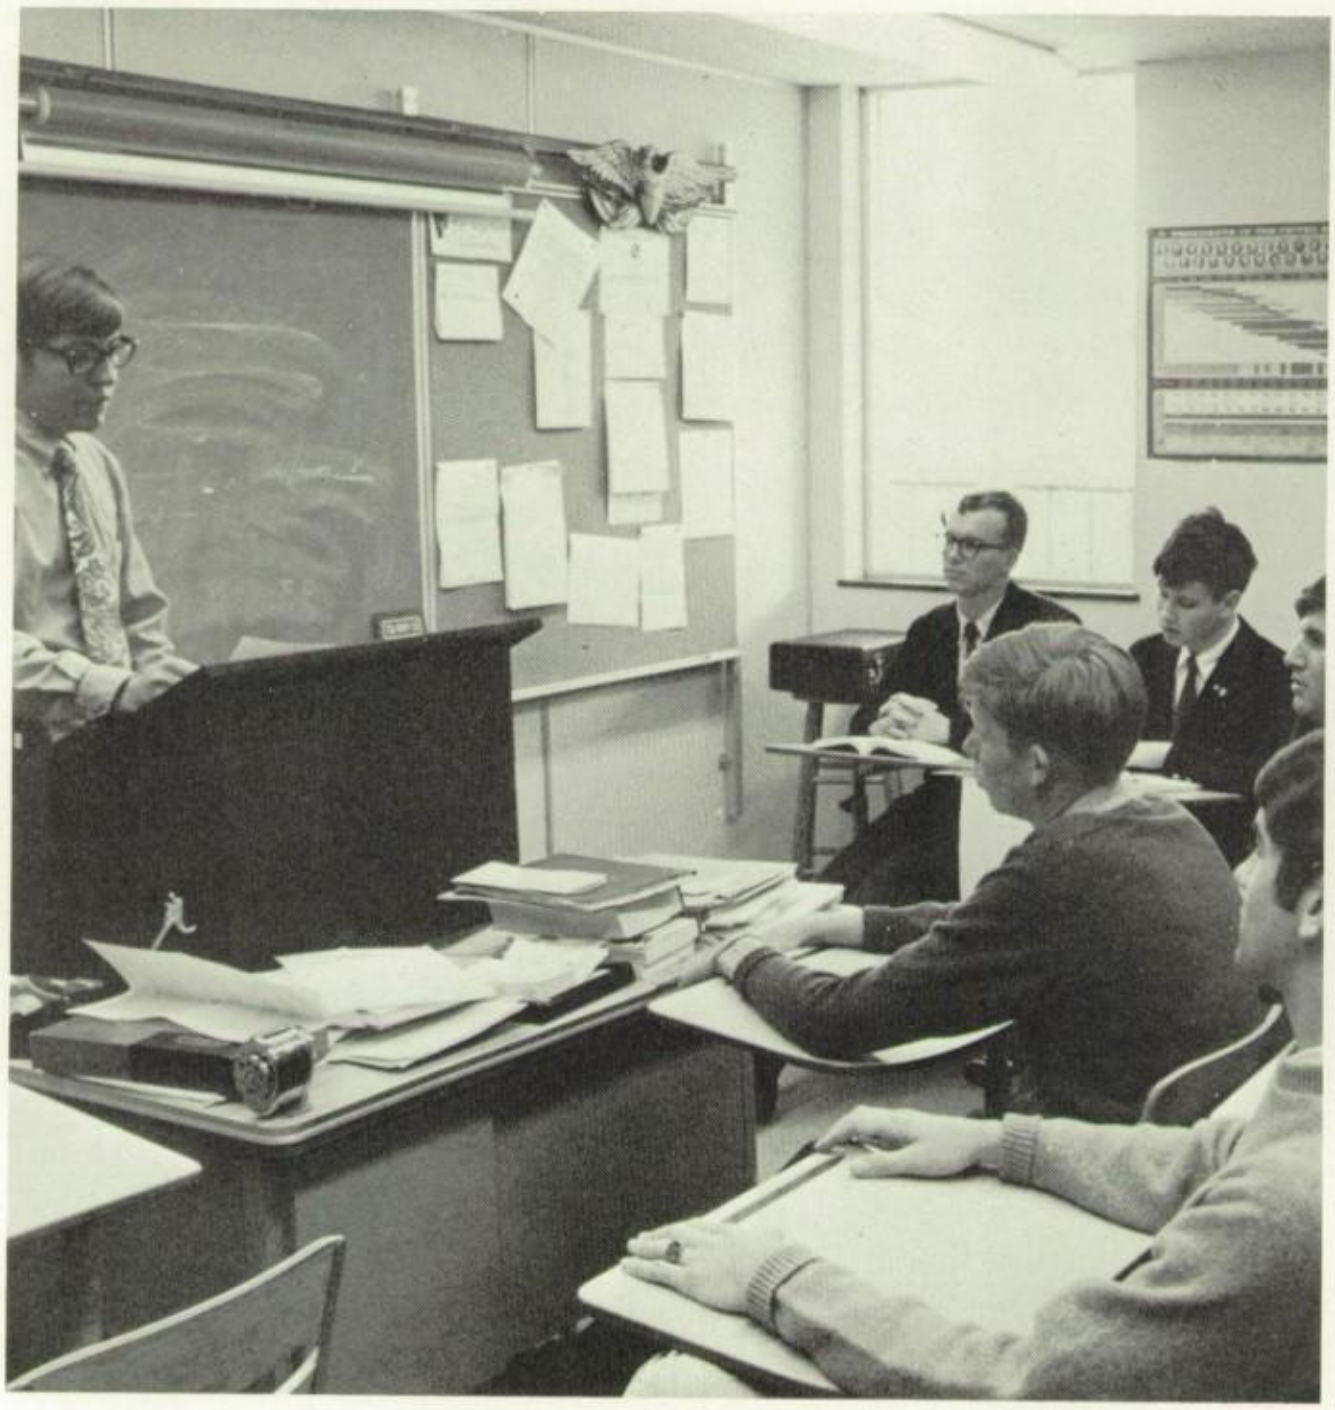
SYSTEM

Kneeling: Cousar. 2nd row: Cranford, Shorstein, Boney, Yelton. 3rd row: Brochin, Jones, Kinsey, Lewinson, McNeil.

JR. SCHOOL STUDENT COUNCIL

This select body of Lower School students is responsible for maintaining discipline among the seventh and eighth grade students. By serving as examples of leadership and character, they insure a smooth transition from Lower School to the rigors of Upper School life.

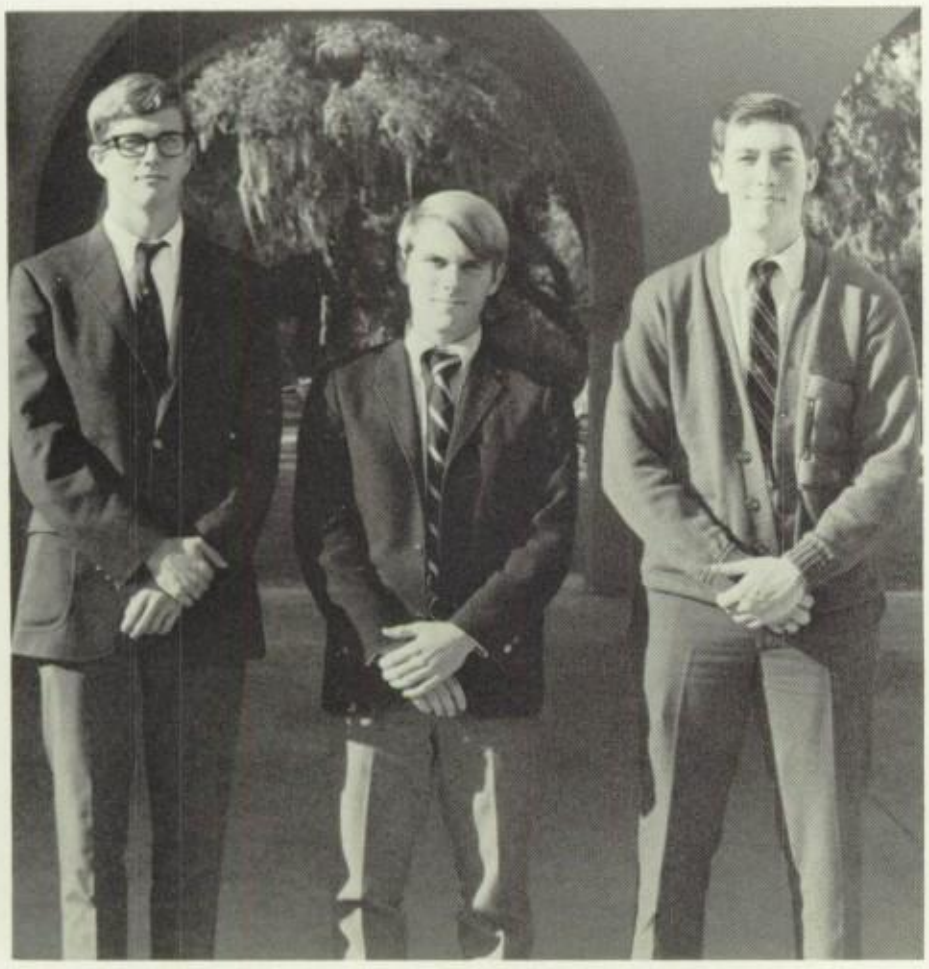
STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS



THE BOLLES SCHOOL

Front Row: Scribner, Cousar, Lewinson, Bolin. Middle Row: Denham, Eason, Lindell, Mendelson. Back Row: Toole, Clements, Becker, Nelson.

Townsend, Silvertooth, Thomas



INTER-CLUB COUNCIL

The ICC, organized this year by the Student Council, was responsible for coordinating all club functions. It filled an embarrassing gap by making sure that no conflicts developed between clubs. All members should be praised for a well-done job in the council's first year.

Front Row: Richardson, Sheppard, Silver, Tisdale, Scales. Middle Row: S. McCain, Shoemaker, Diamond, Price, G. West, Houston Zahra, McMillan. Back Row: Darby, Eng, M. Jones, Gillander, Cousar, Paxson, Walter.

KEY CLUB

In its second year at Bolles, the Key Club continued to be a source of leadership and service to the school. Key was responsible for the first successful Homecoming in Bolles' history. Other activities included ushering at performances by the Phoenix Society and collecting funds for various charitable organizations in the city.

Kneeling: Mendelson, Stein, Hyde. Front Row: Lindell, Hodges, Loggins, Hartzer, Hardee. Middle Row: Platt, Anderson, Townsend, Gandee, Hellier. Back Row: Allen, Cain, Tomberlin, Eason.

INTERACT

Bolles was privileged in being the site for the formation of one of the few Interact Clubs in the county. The club fulfilled its duties as a service organization with varied contributions to school and community alike. Under the capable guidance of Mr. Denny Britt, the club should prove even more dynamic in the future.

Officers: Adams, West, Mr. Randolph Woosley, McMillan.

"B" CLUB

This Athletic organization, honoring those boys who have earned a varsity letter through their skill in sports, was again assisted by Mr. Somers Randolph. Its various activities included collecting money for the Heart Fund and supplying a cheering section for football and basketball games.

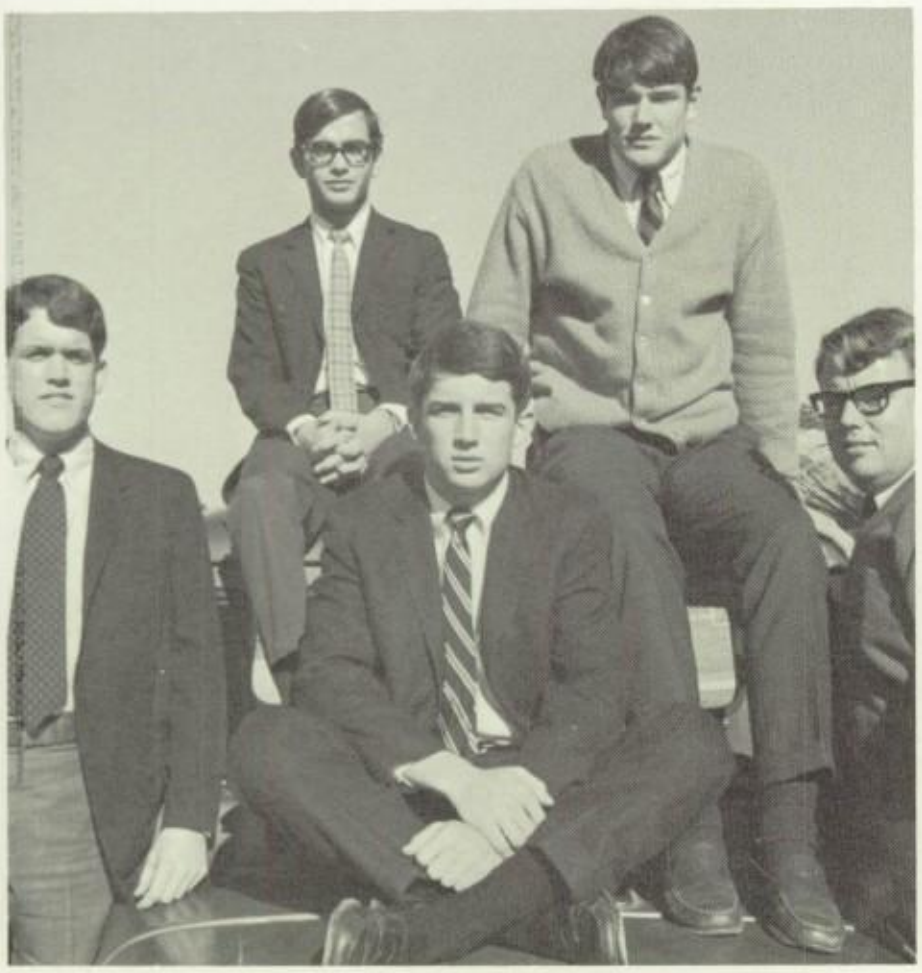
Officers: Johnson, Hardie, A., Wedgworth, Toole
Mr. Wright.



CENTURIONS

The Centurions, the oldest service club on campus, continues to act above and beyond the call of duty. Known for its dramatic initiations, the club is composed of a select group of culturally-minded young men. Mr. Wright and Mr. Gifford are advisors to this organization and stand ready to help everyone.

FRENCH CLUB

Le Cercle Francaise, with the supervision of Mr. Harmon Fowler, was organized at the beginning of the year. It was composed of French students who had shown interest in the French language, people, and culture. This elite group, through its meetings and projects, had a very successful year.

Mr. Fowler, Milberg, Tomberlin, Townsend.

Front row: Thomas, Ritter, Byrd. 2nd row: Cesery, Peek, Lathrop, Meek. Back row: Martin, Bird, Mr. Gomez, Selevan, Taylor, Spratlin, Avent, Anderson, Cain.

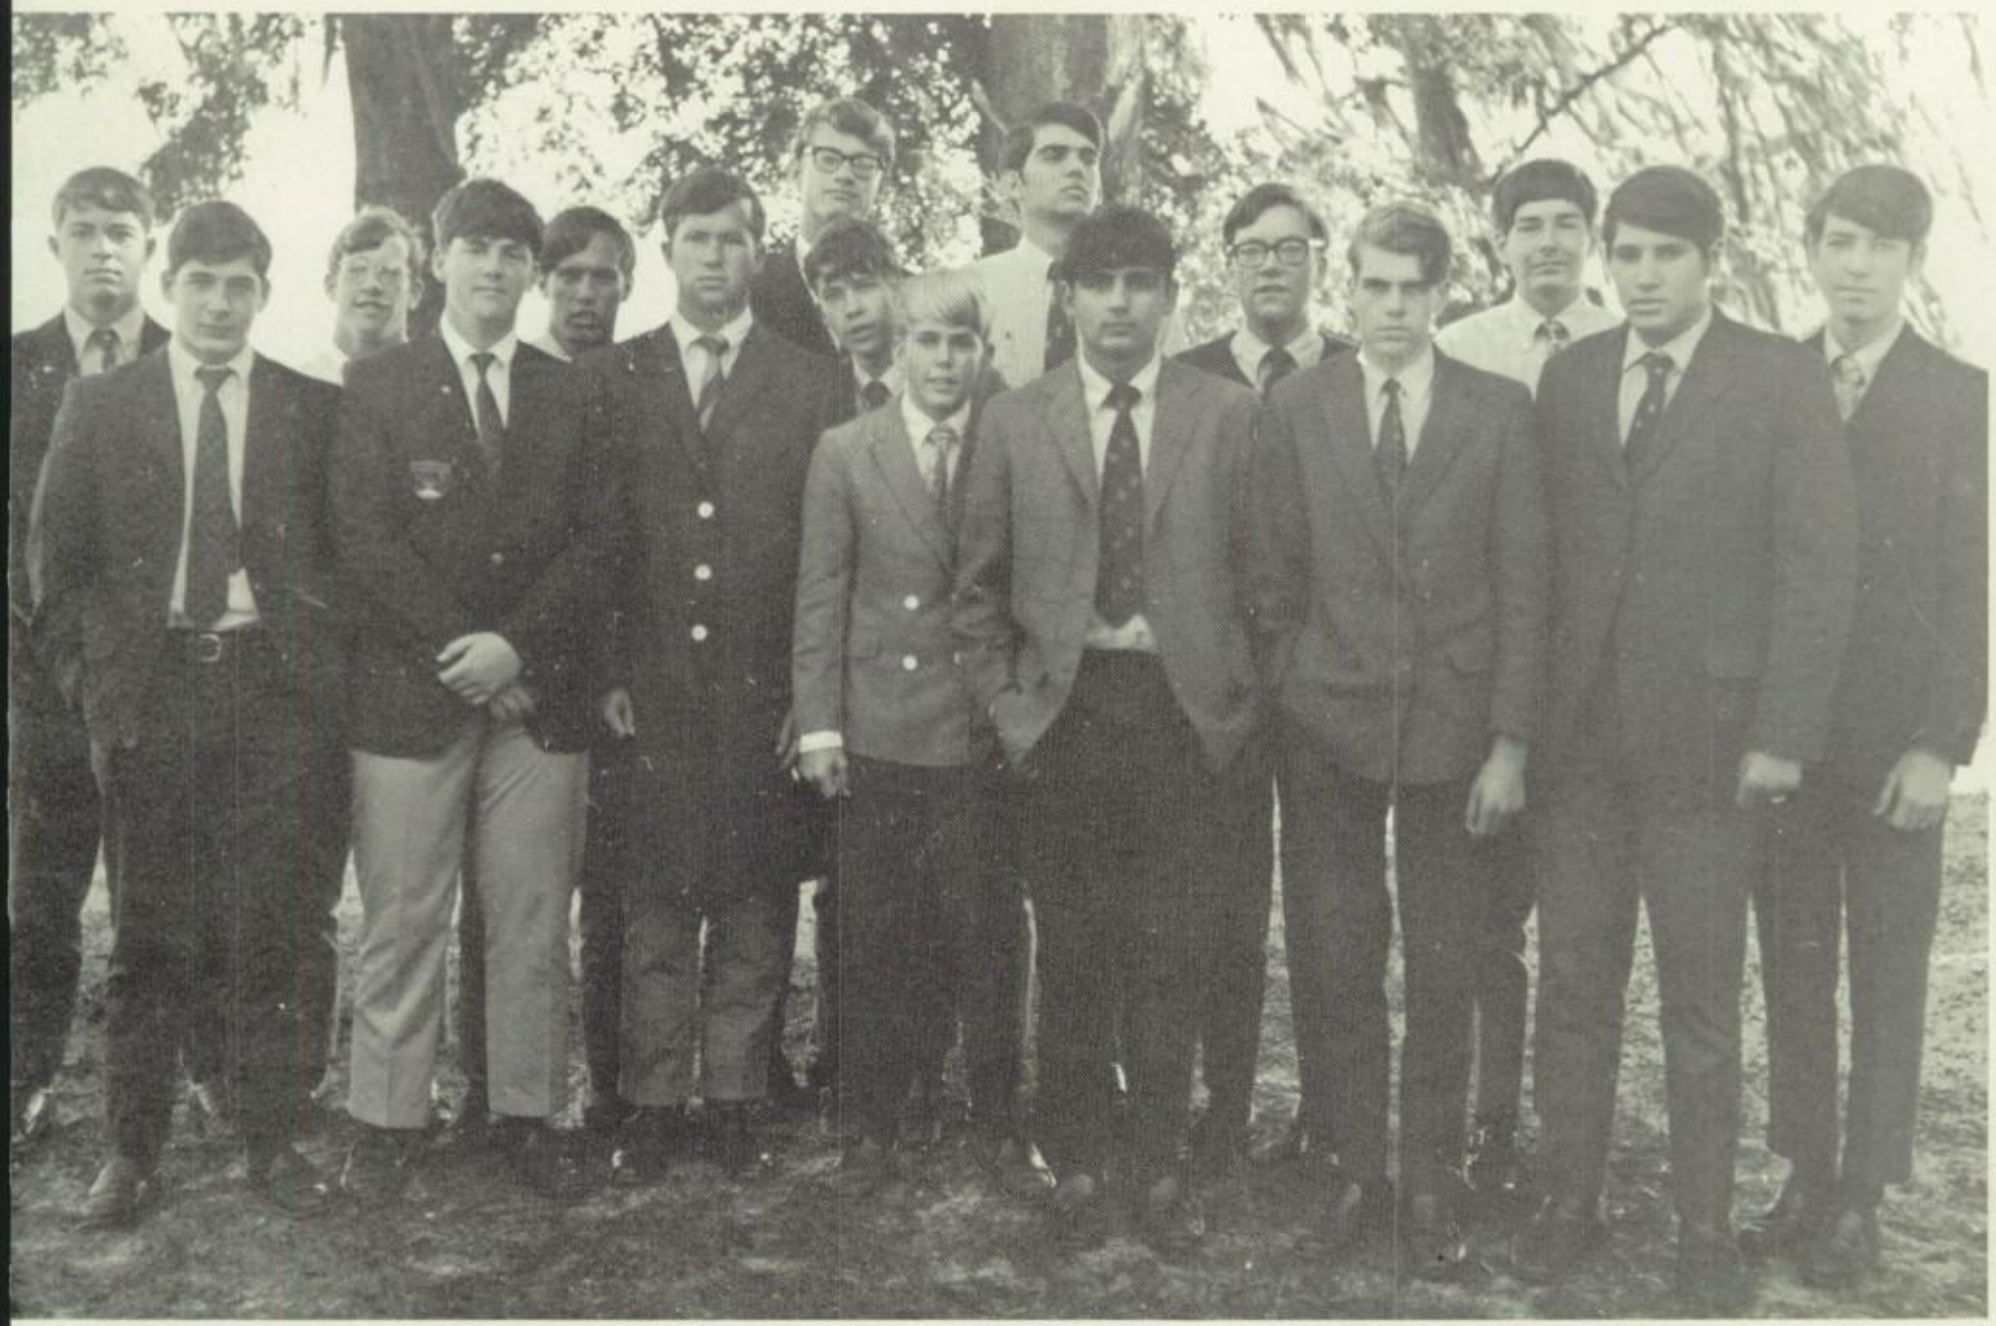
SPANISH CLUB

For the third year in a row, this group took active part in school life. Under the guidance of Mr. Luis Gomez, the club donated books to the library and sponsored a highly successful trip to Latin America. In addition, guest speakers were presented to the student body.

Kneeling: Grubb, Scribner, Deschamps. Standing: Kauss, Cobb, Jones, Bird, Radler, Rhyne, Schell, Shore.

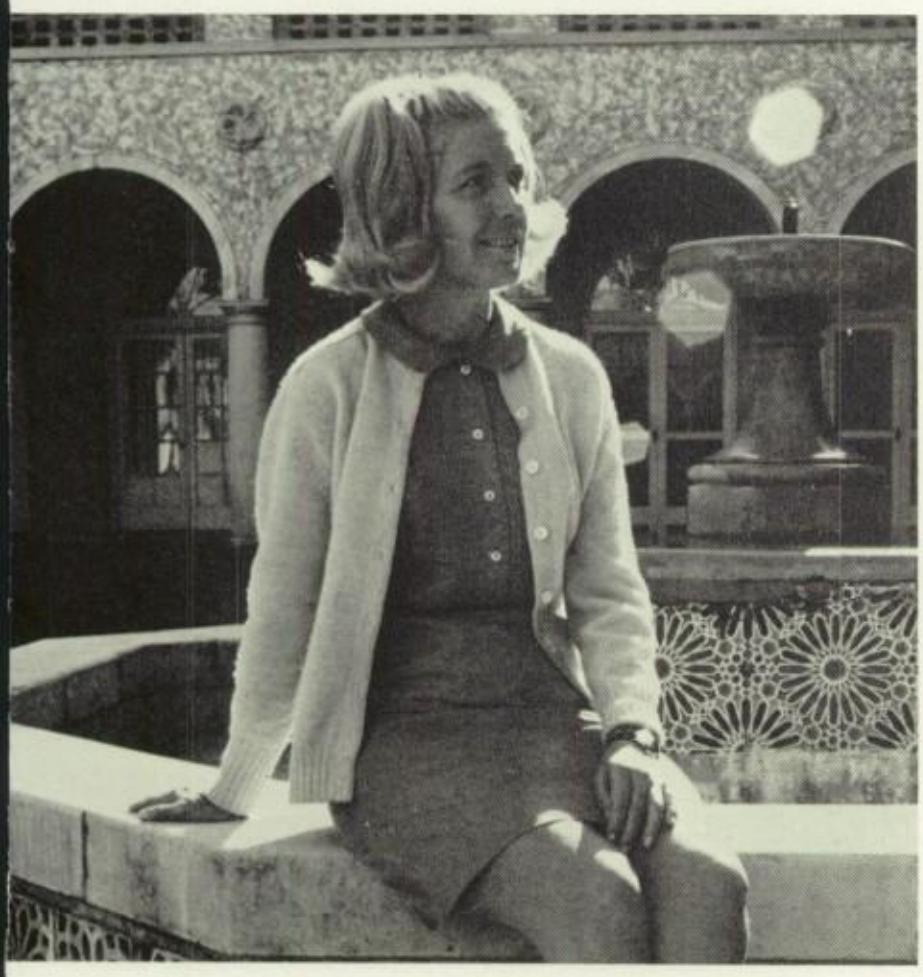
PHOENIX SOCIETY

After a successful first year, the Phoenix returned to produce a number of first-rate plays. The society started the year with The Mousetrap, a play by Agatha Christie. Other productions were Ten Nights In A Barroom, and two spring plays: Of Gypsies, Death, and Moonlight, and Shakespeare's bloodiest, Titus Andronicus. Mr. Carnes did an excellent job, and the school can certainly expect superior productions in future years.



Front row: Bailey, Shoemaker, Knight, Huddleston, Deschamps, Malony, Radler. Back row: Zahara, Clark, Howard, Cobb, Rhyne, D. Anderson, Teshner, Link, Margol.

Mrs. Huddleston, Faculty Advisor



ART CLUB

The Art Club, sponsored by Mrs. Betty Huddleston, became one of the most prominent clubs at Bolles this year. They promoted spirit and enthusiasm throughout the school by sponsorship of dances and by other numerous projects.

NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUE

Relatively inactive in past years, the Debate Club this year has sprung to life, thanks in part to an influx of new members. Ably coached by Mr. William Babcock, the club has six debate teams, three of which competed in the University of Florida Forensics Workshop. The club hopes to hold an invitational debate tournament here at Bolles in the spring and later to go to Wake Forrest and Auburn for other tournaments.

Front Row: Frazier, Tiesdale. Back Row: Price, Grubb, Radler.

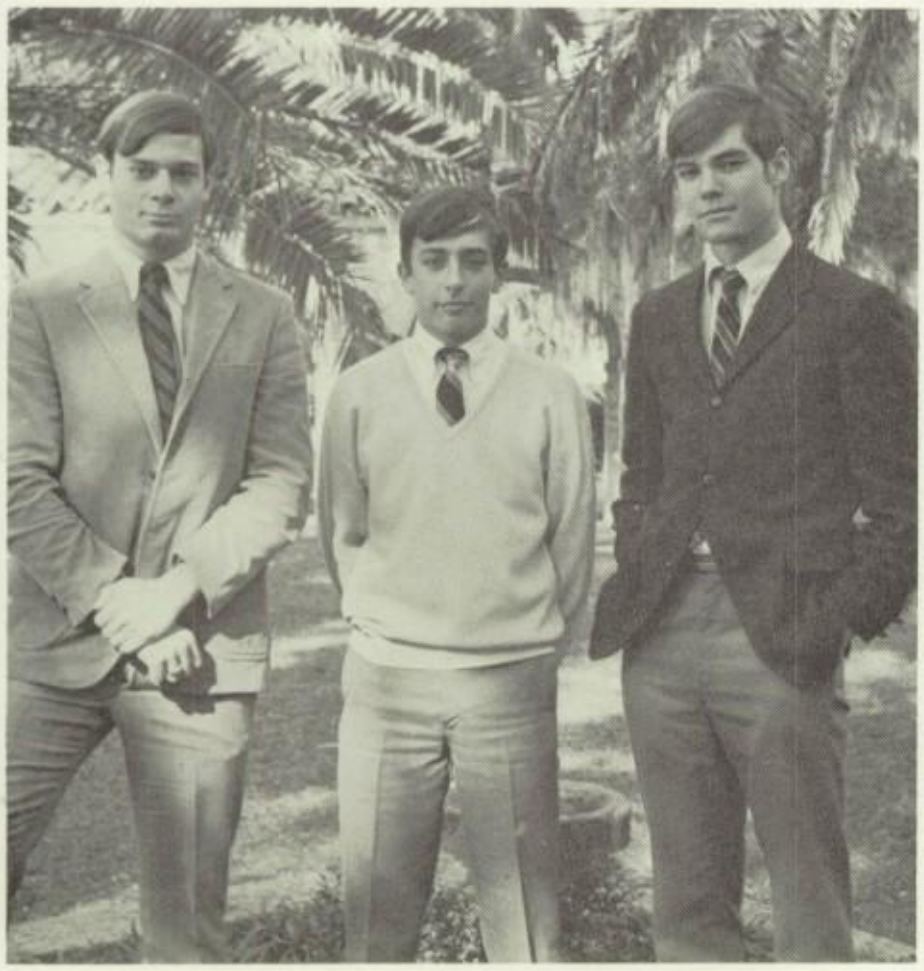
Adams, Bartley, Cousar.



JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE

The Junior Classical League under the leadership of Mr. Al Bachleda, again devotes itself to its purpose, the promotion of classical culture and languages at Bolles. Although the Club is concerned mainly with Latin, it has in recent years stimulated the interest of Bolles students in all classical fields and sought to demonstrate to the outside world that Bolles is not laggard in said fields. The Club thusfar has never fallen short of its goal.

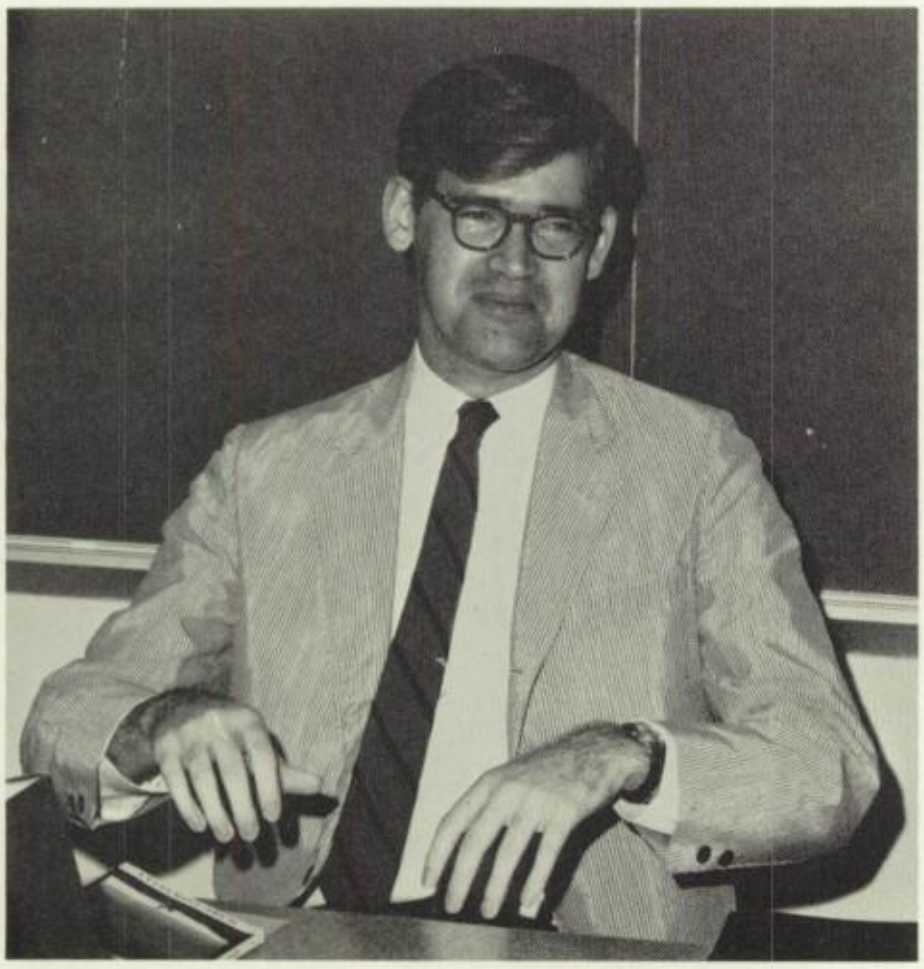
CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club, directed by Mr. Ken Durkee, sponsored a chess tournament with the faculty and competed with other schools in the county. With a fervent desire to be recognized as a Varsity function, the club worked hard to gain respect among students and faculty alike.

Taylor, Hirsig, Boline, Morris, Lane, Ellerbe, Boyd. Second row: Ragosta, Gordon, Stevens, Chertavian. Back row: Hirsig, L., Parker, Heeth, Johnson, Jeffords, Philips, Parsons, Smith.

Mr. Tom Gunn, Director



GLEE CLUB

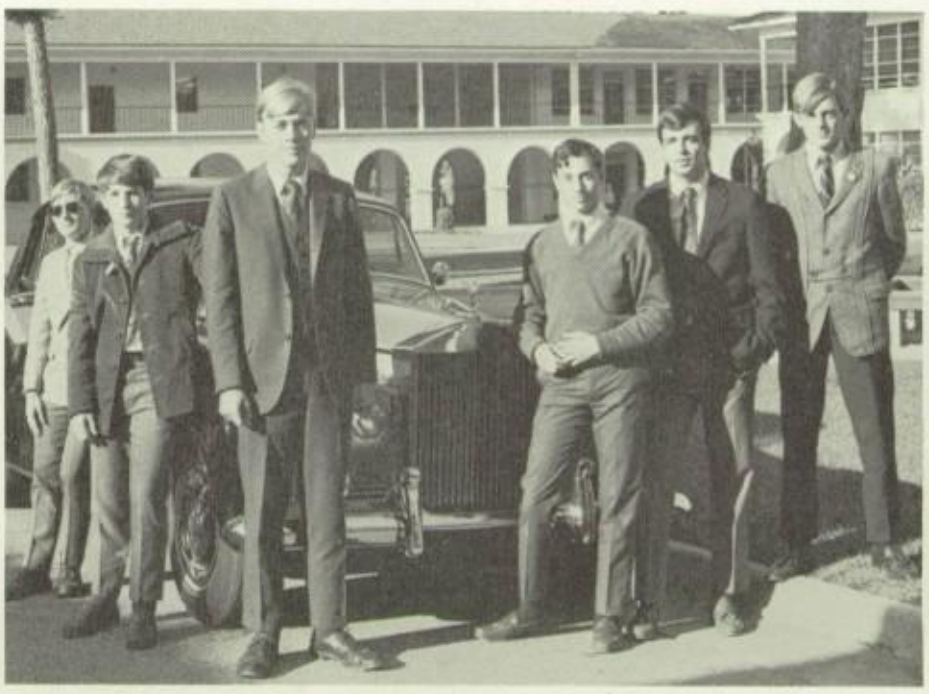
The Glee Club, this year presented two concerts—one a Christmas spirit inspired production and the other given at Easter. Both Upper and Lower School students participated in this rewarding experience and we hope that their ever-growing talent—talent not to be slighted to any degree—will carry on with them throughout their lives.

Standing: Price, Chatman, Gandee, Milberg, Ludwig, Howard. Kneeling: Anderson, Ingram, Montesanti, Jergensen, Tomberlin.

INVESTMENT CLUB

Under the stern guiding hand of their sponsor, Mr. Russell Thacker, the Investment Club once again had a very prosperous year. Besides making money, the club sponsored films and speakers who discussed the Stock Market. With the profits of the year the club went on a trip and gained much knowledge which will be helpful to them when they become the financiers of the world.

Cesery, Skinner, Eason, Fayne, Mr. Thacker, Arnold.



Standing: Sentler, Sears, Ludwig, Allen, Jones, Mr. Robert Black, Mr. Harry Black. Kneeling: Hobbs, Hayes, Geist, Bolin.

FLYING CLUB

The puddlejumpers in its first year at Bolles, taught members the basics of flying. For four hours a week Mr. Robert H. Black instructed all members on the theories involved in the operation of airplanes. In the air, Mr. Black helped the members log over two hundred hours of flying time.

ACTIVITIES

DIRECTOR OF STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

Dedicated to the position that deadlines must be met, Mr. Jeff Wright has served as Director of Student Publications. He has had the responsibility of advising the Turris, Bugle, and Eagle in all their endeavors. Believing that students should have the right to self-expression, Mr. Wright has attempted to advise his staffs in the philosophy of responsible journalism.

Top: Bill Bundy. Standing back: Frazier, Tisdale. Standing front: Brown, Blau, Montesanti, Townsend, Anderson, Jurgensen. Bottom: Becker.

From nothing more than a blueprint, the 1969 Turris has slowly evolved to this present form. The experience of actually creating something where there was nothing has given every member of the staff a special feeling that will never be lost. Apart from the lasting friendships that were built, the staff got a glimpse into the complexity and organization of Bolles. We hope that this work will catch the spirit of '69, and preserve it throughout the coming years.

Jim Cousar, Steve Fayne, Jim McCain, Phil Tomberlin, Ira Price.

THE BUGLE STAFF

Keeping students informed on current events, the Bolles Bugle functioned superbly this year with new faces in the head office. The year the staff spent together can only be contemplated: late nights working on layouts, scrambling to meet deadlines, and making new friends. This was the Bugle 1968-69.

Bugle Staff receives pointers from experienced Advisory Council.

Staff works diligently on Eagle issue.

The Lower School Eagle provided opportunity for younger students to acquire talent and demonstrate ability in the field of publications. Experience gained by staff members will prove to be a valuable tool for future efforts in that general area.

BOLLES SET TRADITION

For the first time in the history of the school, a successful Homecoming was held. In addition to a very enjoyable skit night, many campus clubs sponsored sweethearts, and Miss Susan Eubanks was crowned Queen during halftime festivities at the Admiral Farragut game. By holding such an event, the students have succeeded in establishing a noteworthy precedent.

THE DISCUS THROWER

This part of the crest symbolizes the athletic development of a student. In this area as well, the student has a wide range of sports from which he may choose. Bolles has a very excellent athletic program with the latest equipment at the student's disposal. This year, with the opening of the Davis Sports Complex and the Lobrano Pool, Bolles took a giant step forward in offering the student the best possible athletic facilities. A student, to be well-rounded, must be sound in body as well as mind. And again Bolles offers the best possible program available.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

This was Bolles' second year in the Class "A" Florida Star Conference, one of the top conferences in the state. Although the team was hampered throughout the season by serious injuries to several key players, a winning record of 5-3-2 was attained. The coaches and players deserve recognition for their capable performances.

VARSITY

The Varsity Basketball Team, coached by Mr. Frank Callihan, proved to be a determined and hard working team. With several returning lettermen, and players from last years Junior Varsity to provide depth, the team was a strong one. Although starting the season slowly, the team built up momentum to finish the year with a good record in the Florida Star Conference.

VARSITY SOCCER

This year's soccer team was exceptional. Mr. Luis Gomez, in his second year as soccer coach, drove his "Champions" onto an impressive winning streak. Those deserving credit for this great success were the hardkicking seniors, with close support from the classes of '70 and '71. This undaunted group pushed on for the greater glory of Bolles, much to the dismay of the Tri-State League.

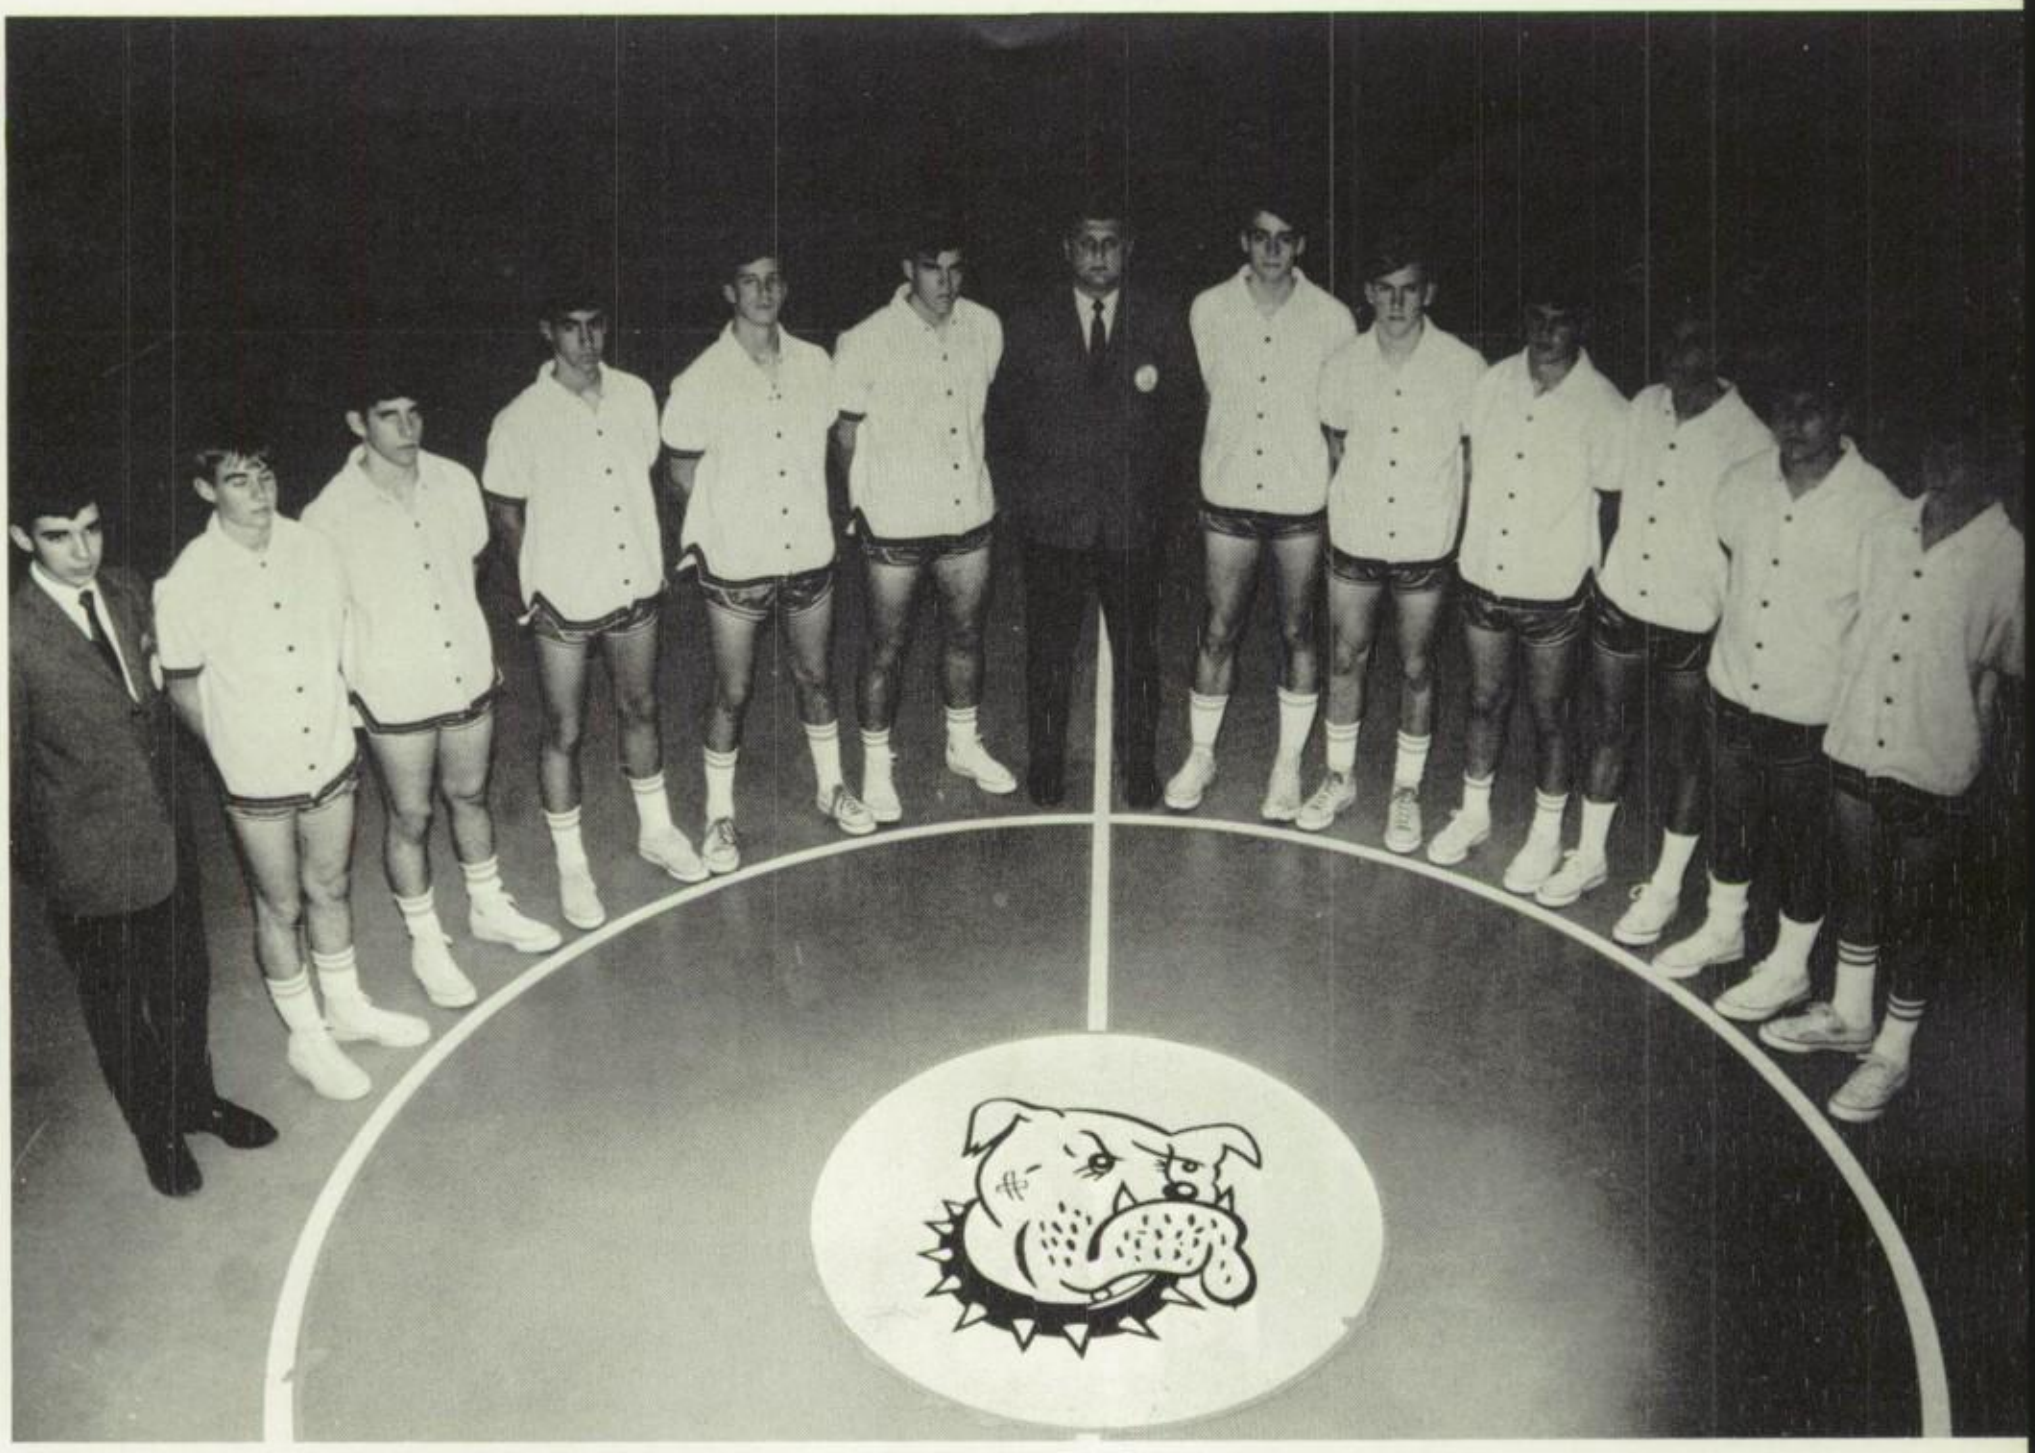
JUNIOR VARSITY FOOTBALL

The J.V. Football team, coached by Mr. Robertson and Doug Wedgworth, had a very successful season this year. Although not in any league competition, they played many local teams and won a majority of the games. With a fresh group of eighth graders coming in, an even better season is expected next year.



Overby, Skinner, Mendelson, Gillander, Culler, Labry, Coach Martin, Elliot, Jones, Paxon, Baker, Price, McCain.

JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

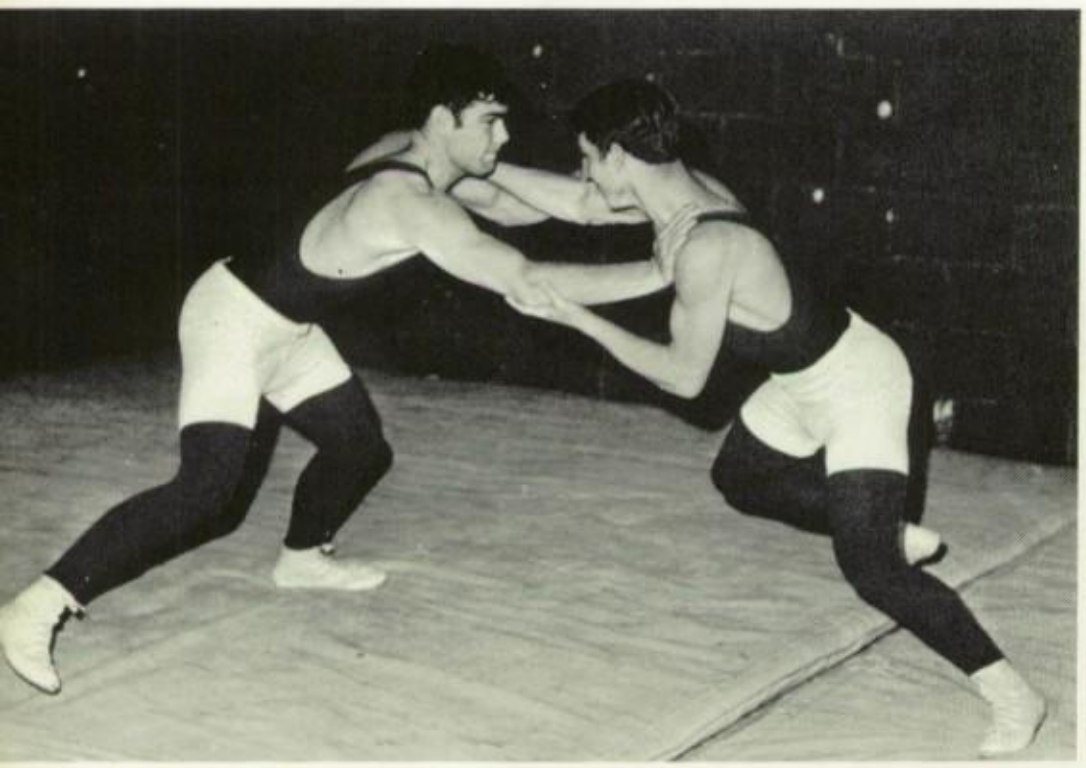
The Junior Varsity Basketball team, under the new leadership of Coach John Martin, proved to the other teams of the Florida Star Conference that it was a competent adversary. Due to many hours of hard work and practice, the team had a winning season.

Those of this year's team who will rise to the Varsity next year should prove to be a great benefit to the Varisty.

Kneeling: Gaines, Copeland, Mayberry, Borg. Standing: Patterson, Selevar, White, Weaver, Toole, Wedgworth.

WRESTLING

Moore and Borg go through paces.



Added to the list of varsity sports this year was the sport of wrestling. The team was composed of boys who trained hard and worked long hours to win their matches. Coached by Mr. Fred Robertson, the team had a very successful year.

TEAM MANAGERS

Truly the "unsung heroes" of this year's Bolles success in athletics were the managers. Under the leadership of Les Loggins, these faceless workers sought to raise the efficiency of the Bolles Athletic Department to heights never before attained. At every game there were at least two of these people waiting to comfort the embattled players. While back on the homefront such essentials as uniforms, towels and balls were kept in constant order by this group. Needless to say without these selfless workers Bolles certainly would not have been as successful an athletic power.

INTRAMURALS

"Idle hands are the devil's workshop," and the fine athletic program of Bolles makes certain that such a thing will never happen. Mr. Octavio Garces and a staff of able assistants keep the students study halls occupied. Intramural football, volleyball, swimming, and other forms of good clean fun give boys a chance to release their frustrations, as well as strengthen their growing bodies.

Bolles has been fortunate this year to have had such an excellant group of cheerleaders. These girls have given of their time to boost the spirit of the student body at various athletic events and pep rallies. Neither rain nor cold could keep them from showing up to raise the morale of our teams. For all they have done, we extend to them our humble appreciation.

DEDICATION CEREMONY

Davis Sports Complex.

Months of busy planning and construction culminated on November 15 with the official dedication of the Davis Sports Complex and the Lobrano Pool. Guest speakers for the occasion were Senator Sessard Holland and Speaker of the Florida House of Representatives Fred Schultz. Mrs. Lobrano and Mr. and Mrs. Davis were given commemorative plaques by Lester Varn, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, and by Senator Holland. The ceremonies were ended with a reception, as the second phase of the Forward Fund drew to a close.

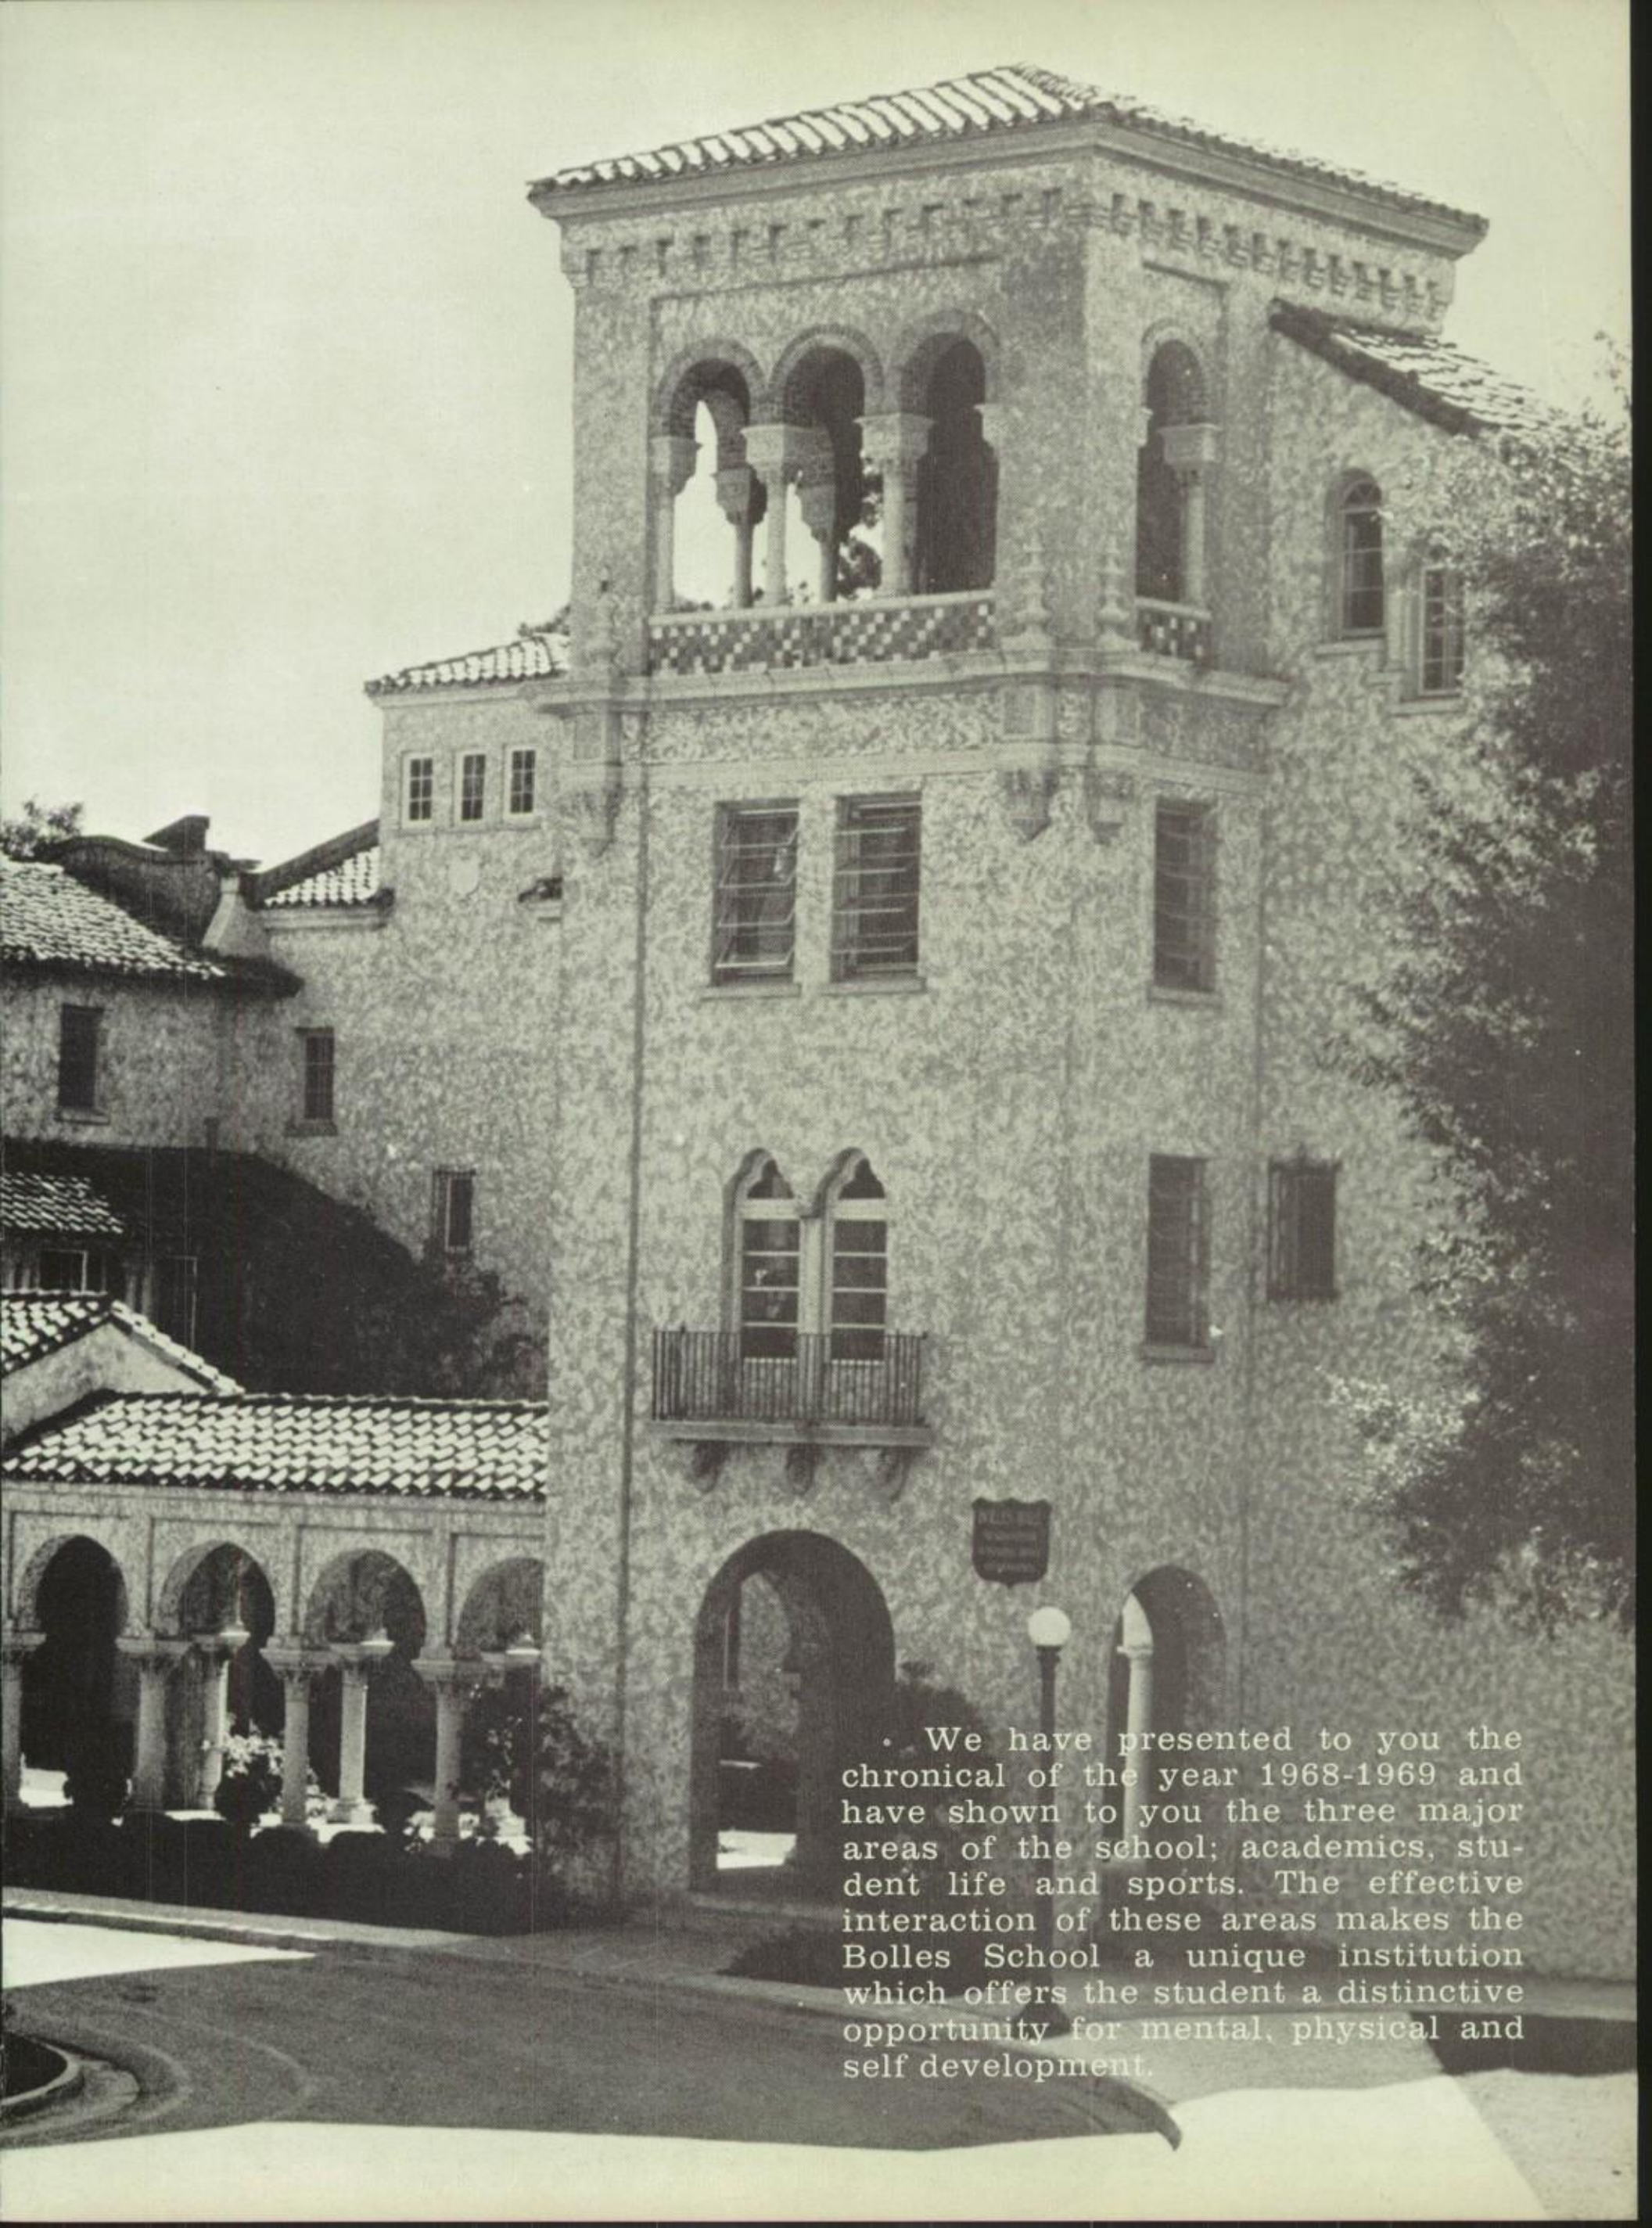
THE BOLLES SCHOOL



We have presented to you the chronical of the year 1968-1969 and have shown to you the three major areas of the school; academics, student life and sports. The effective interaction of these areas makes the Bolles School a unique institution which offers the student a distinctive opportunity for mental, physical and self development.
